ROLL OF HONOUR.

IN MEMORIAM.

BATEMAN—In ever-fresh and loving memory of Captain Arthur Cyril Bateman, M.B., M.C.

Many a bitter fight with Death he had,
And made the hearts of many sick men glad.

At Ypres, although continually exposed to hostile sniping and machine gun fire, he tended the wounded, who had been lying out for two days; on the 28th March, 1918, he gave his life, at Arras, for Liberty, the Empire, and France. Severely wounded and "missing," and in German hands, the Great Physician called him Home.

COATES—In loving memory of my dear son, William Alexander Coates, South Irish Horse, killed in action, in France, 28th March, 1918, son of Mrs. and the late Alexander Coates, Foxrock. Inserted by his loving mother, brother, and sister.

FINDLATER—In affectionate memory of Captain Percy St. George Findlater, A.S.C., killed, in France, March 28th, 1918. Ever remembered by his old servant, J. Wright.

He hath solved the sacred mystery,
He hath crossed the Great Divide,
Within the Sacred City, far
Beyond the soundless tide.

FREEMAN—In loving memory of our dear George, 5th Royal Irish Lancers, missing since 26th March, 1918, presumed killed in action. Sadly missed by his sorrowing father, mother, brother, and sister. "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends."

MacHUTCHISON—In ever-loving memory of a most dearly-loved son and brother, William Frederick MacHutchison, Lieutenant, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, who "passed out of the sight of men" on 27th March, 1918. "Missing, believed killed," at Morcourt, on the Amiens-Peronne road, France. "Bravely he passed, the great surrender made."

MARTIN—March 27, 1917—In loving memory of our dear brother, Lieutenant-Colonel C. V. Martin, killed in action.

NASH—March 27, 1918, killed in action in France, James H. Nash, Lieutenant, 1st Battalion Irish Guards, aged 20 years, eldest son of Sir Vincent and Lady Nash, Shannon View House, Kilmurry, Co. Limerick. R.I.P.

SCHOLEFIELD—In very proud and loving memory of our dear younger son Cyril, killed at Vimy Ridge 28th March, 1918, aged 22, Major 59th Siege Battery, R.G.A., Croix de Guerre, and Chevalier de l'Ordre de la Couronne. "Ubique quo fas et gloria ducunt."

SHERIDAN—In loving memory of Leonard, Captain, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, killed in France 26th March, 1918.

BIRTHS.

BOND—March 21, 1921, at Corbally, Roscrea, to T. J. and Mrs. Bond, a son.

BURGESS—On March 5, 1921, at 79 Lower Beechwood av., Ranelagh, to Mr. and Mrs. R. Mitchell Burgess, a daughter (prematurely). Both now doing well.

DILLON—March 24, 1921, at The Wayside, Emsworth, Hants, the wife of Lieutenant-Commander S. H. Dillon, D.S.O., Royal Navy (retired), of a son.

GREY—March 21, 1921, at 14 Leinster square, Rathmines, to Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Grey, 55 Lower Baggot st., Dublin, a daughter.

SAVILE—On March 17, 1921, the wife of Hugh O. Savile, Esq., Maseno, British East Africa, of a son.

SNOW—March 21, 1921, at Enniskerry, the wife of H. W. Snow, a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

ADAM and DOUGLAS—March 16, 1921, at Holy Trinity Church, Rathmines, by the Rev. Geoffrey M. Wilson, John, third son of the late John Adam, Cork, and Mrs. Adam, 20 Berkeley rd., Dublin, to Annie (Nan), second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, 18 Gulistan tce., Rathmines.

LYONS and JONES—March 21, 1921, at Holy Trinity Church, Rathmines, by the Rev. J. Wilson, Howard, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lyons, Riversdale House, Kilmainham, to Mary Lindop (Mollie), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Jones, 3 Summerville Park, Rathmines.

DEATHS.

BALLANCE—March 26, 1921, at her residence, Florence rd., Bray, Jane (Jennie), second and dearly-loved daughter of the late Thomas Ballance, of Meath rd. R.I.P. Funeral to family burial ground, Kilmacanogue, from Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, Bray, to-day (Monday).

BOND—March 22, 1921, Matilda, the very dearly-loved wife of T. J. Bond. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." Also, March 23, 1921, her infant son (Alfred Benjamin).

CARROLL—On Easter Sunday, 1921, at his residence, 1 Anglesea rd., Ballsbridge, Dublin, James Carroll, F.S.I., Commissioner of Valuation. Funeral private.

CHAYTOR—March 25, 1921, at 17 Morehampton rd., Dublin, Herbert Stanley Chaytor. Funeral to-morrow (Tuesday), at 9 o'clock, to Mount Jerome.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Miss Manning, Bahana, Enniskerry, desires to thank all friends for their kind letters of sympathy, as they are too numerous to answer individually.

Will the many kind friends who sympathised with Mr. and Mrs. Mathers and family in their recent sad bereavement please accept this acknowledgment of their deep appreciation, as they find it impossible to reply to each individually.

IN MEMORIAM.

HUMPHREYS—In most loving remembrance of Samuel Beatty Humphreys, of Fort Lodge, Enniskillen, who fell asleep in Jesus March 28th, 1909, in the 59th year of his age.

TOMLIN—In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Helena, who died 28th March, 1920. "Peace, perfect peace." "With loved ones far away, In Jesus' keeping we are safe and they."

SOUTH AFRICAN OPENINGS FOR LARGE CAPITAL.

It was the fashion for a generation, with people of means, to buy cheaply land in the Dominions, leaving it mainly dormant as a provision for the future. During that generation the Dominions developed, and land appreciated in value; while money was plentiful, and gilt-edged securities returned only a low interest, such transactions were often satisfactory.

A good deal more is now expected from capital. The Union of South Africa offers that "good deal more" to people able to invest from £10,000 to £20,000 and upwards. It has large areas of land, excellent for cattle ranching, that may be bought cheaply and on easy terms.

The light taxation in South Africa; the probable appreciation of land values as farming develops; security at least as good as in most investments; and a reasonable prospect of higher dividends than are obtainable under present conditions from commerce or industry, make South African ranching an investment that merits investigation.

Authentic data may be obtained from the Publicity Agent (Section 38), Office of the High Commissioner for the Union of South Africa, Trafalgar square, London, S.W. 1.

BOATING ACCIDENT ON RIVER TAY.

On Saturday night two Dundee men, Charles William Clayton, a joiner, and William Cuthbert Downie, a pattern maker, went out on the River Tay in a small boat. Later cries for help were heard, and a man in the water asked a policeman to get a rope, but on returning he found no trace of the men. The boat was later found smashed.

Germany's Choice.

According to the latest reports, the Communist revolution in Germany seems to have come to an inglorious end. On Thursday last the rioting throughout the Province of Saxony had become so fierce that the Berlin Government intervened, and conferred very far-reaching powers on the provincial President to enable him to quell the revolts. Large reinforcements of Security Police were hurried to the centres of disturbance, and the rioters were dislodged from most of their strongholds. They had seized factories and public buildings in several industrial towns, and defended their positions with the courage of fanatical despair. At Eisleben, where Martin Luther was born and died, the police suffered heavy losses, but they succeeded, after a bitter struggle, in driving the Communists out of the town. During the fighting they captured the notorious Max Hölz, whose career of brigandage in the Vogtland last year kept the whole province in a state of terror. He was the leader of the Eisleben insurrection, and his capture has deprived the Communists of a reckless and unscrupulous chief. Nevertheless, they have not yet capitulated. Their main body has taken to the neighbouring hills, whence, strongly entrenched, it commands the approaches to the town with machine guns. Hettstedt also has been occupied by the police. This town has been the scene of extremely violent fighting, and a well-prepared ambush inflicted serious casualties on the advancing police. Halle and Mansfeld seem still to be in the Communists' hands. The insurgents have an army of some six thousand men in the Leuna nitrogen works, near the former town, and are not likely to cry "Kamerad!" until hunger forces them to accept the authorities' terms.

It would be very foolish, however, to assume that the last has been heard of the German Bolsheviks. The Central Executive of the United Communist Party has issued a call for a general strike, and, although the Rote Fahne, its official organ, has been suppressed, it has any number of printing presses at its disposal and is flooding industrial Germany with revolutionary "literature." We do not believe for one moment that a Bolshevist rising can succeed in Germany. The German people are much too stolid, and much too fond of their own comfort, to allow their country to be turned into a shambles. Besides, they are intelligent—except when they happen to be officials. Yet the situation in Germany is, undoubtedly, critical. By a series of outbursts like that in Saxony, the hot-heads can keep the country in a state of chronic turmoil. Their tactics, it must be remembered, are dictated from Moscow, where Kurt Geyer, one of their cleverest leaders, is closeted at present with the mandarins of the Kremlin. Lenin knows very well that he cannot win Germany over to Bolshevism in a day. His policy, apparently, like that of Marshal Joffre, is to "keep on nibbling" until the stable elements of public opinion in the country disappear. The best—indeed, the only—weapon that Germany can use to defend herself against Bolshevist aggression is the weapon of peace. Technically she is at peace with her former enemies, but actually she is in a state of suspended war. Her representatives signed a peace treaty at Versailles nearly two years ago. She assumed obligations towards the peoples whom her arrogant challenge of 1914 forced into a devastating struggle, and, so far, she has not met one of them in an honest or straightforward way. Consequently the Allies have been compelled to adopt methods of coercion. Towns have been occupied, Customs have been seized, and economic penalties have been enforced. Peace is almost as far from Germany as ever it was, and she herself must bear the brunt of the blame.

If the German people want to save themselves from Bolshevism, they must come to terms with the Allies. Lenin's poison-weed thrives on uncertainty, and, while the present state of affairs continues, there can be no prospect of stable conditions in the Fatherland. The first thing that they must learn is that it is hard to kick against the pricks. A message from Berlin states that, as a reprisal against the imposition of the 50 per cent. export duty by the Allies, German traders are organising a general boycott of Allied goods. Most of the big concerns in Germany have joined this movement. The Hansa Bund, all the Chambers of Commerce, the Coal-owners' Association, the governing bodies of the wine, silk, and textile industries, and all the Hamburg importers have pledged themselves to buy from English, French, and Belgian firms "only such goods as are absolutely indispensable." This stupid attempt at a boycott is calculated to make matters much worse between Germany and the Allies. The latter already are contemplating further "sanctions" as a result of the Germans' default in regard to gold payments, and another "vicious circle" may be soon in full swing. Of course, Germany must suffer most heavily in the long run. The Allies can afford to do without her orders, whereas her export trade depends almost entirely on their good-will. It is reported that Herr von Simons is greatly perturbed by the events of the last week in Hamburg and Saxony, and that he may approach the Allies in the near future with new proposals for a settlement of the reparations problem. Should such be his intention, he should take immediate steps to damp the ardour of the Hansa Bund. If the Germans really desire a settlement, they must abandon their futile policy of reprisals. If they dislike the Allies' "sanctions," they can get rid of them to-morrow, but neither "bluff" nor bluster is of the least avail.

Indian Tariffs.

Lancashire is very angry with India. The Government of India, in order to balance its Budget, has decided to increase the duty on imported goods from seven and a half to eleven per cent. All British trade will lose through this change in fiscal policy, but Lancashire will be the chief sufferer. India is one of her greatest markets, and she views the prospect with alarm, especially in view of the fact that the Dependency's own cotton industry is expanding rapidly. Last Wednesday an influential deputation representing both the employers' and the employés' organisations in Manchester waited on Mr. Montagu and besought him to intervene on their behalf; but the Secretary of State, whose political views lean towards the Manchester school, could make no concession. His attitude will be generally approved. It is true that the Council of India has the power to veto the proposal, but action of that kind would be inconsistent with the policy that Britain has pursued with regard to the Dependency during recent years. Cotton goods have not been singled out for exceptional treatment, and while, as Mr. Montagu admitted frankly, the new duty is protective in character, it is not aimed at injuring Lancashire's trade for the benefit of Indian manufacturers, but is intended solely to bring money into the Indian Exchequer. It would have been invidious for the Government to omit cotton from the articles that are to be subjected to heavier Customs duties and to insist—as the deputation suggested—upon an Excise duty on it. Other sections of British trade would have had a distinct grievance, and the Government could not have resisted their plea for equal treatment. Moreover, the Indian public would not have favoured the alternative. The fact is that the Government has lost its moral right to dictate India's fiscal policy in the interests of British trade. Mr. Montagu reminded the deputation of the promises made to India, and said that if she were to be retained as a willing and contented partner in the British Empire those promises must be fulfilled. He spoke the truth. The tide of discontent in India is rising rapidly. Unscrupulous agitators have done their work thoroughly, and the situation tends to become critical. Undue interference with Indian affairs at this juncture would exasperate public feeling and strike a fatal blow at Britain's reputation for fair play. Preferential treatment for cotton would do the Lancashire manufacturers very little good if the public sympathy were alienated. Good will is the only sure foundation for prosperous trade. A Tariff Commission is to be established to revise India's whole fiscal policy, and Mr. Montagu believes that it will report in favour of protection. At the same time he feels confident that the Dependency will grant preference to the goods produced in the Empire in precisely the same way that the Dominions have done. Lancashire is suffering severely to-day. Thousands of looms are idle, and hundreds of thousands of operatives are out of employment. It is natural, therefore, that employers and employés alike should resent any change that tends to make the recovery of trade more difficult. There are signs, however, of an improvement in the conditions, and there is no reason to believe that India's financial arrangements will prove an insuperable barrier in the market.

Trade with Russia.

America has refused to follow Britain's example in regard to Russia. Last week the Bolshevist Commissary for Foreign Affairs sent an urgent Note to President Harding's Administration inviting it to start negotiations for a trade agreement. He declared—presumably as a bait—that "the Soviet Government has not the slightest intention to interfere with the internal affairs of the United States." The American Government, however, refused to be caught, and sent a polite, but firm, reply to that effect. It expressed its "grave concern" at the plight of the people of Russia and its willingness to foster any scheme that would promote commerce between the two countries on "a sound basis." Then it went straight to the heart of the matter. It pointed out that under the Bolshevist rule neither life nor property is safe in Russia; that there is no machinery that can guarantee the sanctity of contract; and that "fundamental changes" are needed. A trade treaty in the prevailing conditions would be the merest sham. Russia is pursuing the path of "progressive impoverishment," and, until she recovers her power to produce and export goods, no useful purpose can be served by talking about the development of commerce. In a word, the American Government gave Lenin and Trotsky notice that they must either quit the country or mend their ways before business can be discussed. The snub was deserved, and we wish that the British Government had taken the same course. The signing of the Anglo-Russian trade treaty has been trumpeted throughout the world as evidence that the Bolsheviks' word can be trusted implicitly, and it has tended to strengthen the crazy régime's grip on Russia. Lenin has hastened to assure his unhappy dupes that all is well; that British food, British clothes, and British machinery are theirs to command, and that these advantages have been gained solely through his untiring and unselfish efforts.

An Amphibious Tank.

A Marseilles telegram describes a novel invention which has just been made by a French engineer. It appears that a M. Leon Foenquinos has demonstrated before the French naval and military authorities a machine that is described as a combined land-ship, miniature liner, and submarine. It resembles an ordinary "whippet" tank—there is a "whippet" at Kingstown—but has a propeller at the stern. In the course of the demonstration M. Foenquinos's invention crossed trenches, climbed embankments, and generally went through the performace of a normal tank. Then it entered the sea and travelled on the surface for some distance, after which it dived, crawled along the bed of the ocean, and returned finally to the beach. The "vessel" emerged in triumph from all the trials through which it was put, and M. Foenquinos may now be expected to devote his attention to making it fly. Even without this additional accomplishment, however, the career of the new tank is certain to be interesting. Walls, ditches, and even houses have ceased already to be obstacles in the way of modern locomotion. M. Foenquinos's invention makes the further conquest of rivers and lakes, and the day may yet dawn when the victim of mal-de-mer will be able to travel in comfort between Ireland and England along the bottom of the Irish Sea.

OBITUARY.

MR. HERBERT STANLEY CHAYTOR

The death took place on Friday night at his residence, 17 Morehampton road, Dublin, of Mr. Herbert Stanley Chaytor, who for the last fifteen years acted as Secretary to the Irish Automobile Club. During that time he took a practical interest in motor shows, reliability trials, and hill-climbing competitions, and was closely identified with progressive movements in the motoring world. When the war was in progress he took an active part in connection with the Automobile Club's ambulance work, which was carried on under his supervision, and for his services he received the Order of the British Empire, and was awarded the Medal of the Order. His death will be keenly regretted by every member of the club. The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning to Mount Jerome Cemetery.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—A fresh fall of the barometer on the western coasts will cause the wind to back to between west and south-west generally. Cloudy, showery, and milder weather is indicated.

Ireland.—Moderate to fresh winds, from between west and south-west, strong at times; cloudy, showery; some bright intervals; visibility fair to good; milder.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

Much sunshine, with icy cold north winds during the early part of the day and clouds with heavy rain at intervals in the afternoon, marked the change in the temperature to-day as compared with the splendour of Good Friday. Crowds of people were out all day despite the weather, but many of them seemed to be prepared for rain. Since the war the mackintosh habit seems to have grown among us, and very few family parties go out nowadays without coverings in case of rain. It certainly is an improvement on the days when a sudden shower used to catch the lightly-clad crowds and wet them through before they could get shelter.

The Prime Minister has gone to the home of Sir Philip Sassoon at Lympne for the week-end, and Lord French has gone there to join him. Mr. Lloyd George will, in all probability, return to town on Tuesday morning. A number of Ministers have been spending Easter in London in order to remain in touch with their departments. Sir Hamar Greenwood has spent most of the holiday at the Irish Office.

The German "Red" terror seems to have been cowed, as far as we can judge from the messages received. In one or two places the "Reds" are strong, and making a desperate resistance, but the German Security Police seem to have them well in hand, though it is possible that there may be a general strike. In official quarters here little surprise is expressed at the failure of the outbreak, for the disorders were never regarded as being of any great importance. It is said that we are likely to hear more and more of the "Red" bogey as the Allies press their demands on Berlin. The happenings of the past week provide the German Government with an excuse to refuse to pay the monies due under the Peace Treaty. The seizure of the German Customs on the Rhine, however, have made a deep impression in Germany, and it is quite possible that during the next few days there will be strong efforts made towards securing an arrangement with the Allies. Germany will try to get the sum she must pay whittled down, but to that the Allies will not agree.

The leaders of the Labour Party rather incline to the view that the Prime Minister's speech against the extreme elements to be found in the party, following upon the retirement of Mr. Bonar Law, means a sudden general election before very long. They have made great preparations for such an election, and, even if it should be brought about suddenly, they will be ready with some five hundred candidates. Steps are being taken in all directions to see that the Labour machinery is properly prepared, and it may be regarded as certain that a very definite effort will be made to capture a majority in the next Parliament. Labour at the last general election was unready; it will not be so this time.

Another coal strike does not seem to be remote, though it is to be hoped that the miners will consider most carefully the vital injury they will inflict upon themselves before taking such a step. The export trade in coal from the United States has grown enormously, particularly since the last coal strike, and another one might see the virtual disappearance of our export trade in this commodity. The Miners' Federation are looking to the Prime Minister to avert a strike, but, seeing that the extremists in the Federation seem to have matters in their own hands, his possible intervention offers no particular hope of peace. The machinery of the Federation in most of the mining districts is in the hands of men who intend to lose no chance of availing themselves of the crisis with the hope that they may succeed in forcing nationalisation of mines upon an unwilling community. It is, therefore, possible that we may be in for a bitter and ruinous struggle, with consequences that will be injurious to the coal industry, no matter who may win or lose.

We are threatened with a further impost on our letters, for, according to the Passport and Postal Reform Committee, the Government have had the idea of raising the postal rates under consideration for some time, and they propose to put it into operation almost immediately. This seems to indicate that a new charge will figure in the next Budget. The statement, of course, is not official, though Lord Robert Cecil is President of the Committee and Sir Martin Conway the Chairman. At the same time, it is hard to imagine that a further increase will be made in the postage of letters, for it has already been doubled, and such a step would tax business men severely. Telegrams, too, are almost doubled in price. It is likely that there would be considerable indignation if such an increase were seriously proposed.

The Crown Prince of Japan is to arrive in London on May 9th. He will be met at Victoria Station by the Prince of Wales, and drive by a long route to Buckingham Palace, where he is to stay for a few days. In the evening there is to be a State banquet, and on the following day he is to go down to Windsor, dining at night with Lord Curzon at his house in Carlton House terrace. On the Wednesday the Prince will pay a State visit to the City of London to receive an address and to be entertained to a luncheon. The Government will give a banquet in his honour at Lancaster House on the Thursday. The Prince will then leave Buckingham Palace for Chesterfield House for a stay of about a fortnight. During that time he is to pay visits to the great manufacturing and industrial centres. This is the first time that a Crown Prince of Japan has left his country, though we have had visits from other members of the Imperial House. In Japan nobody may look down upon the Emperor or the Crown Prince, so that windows are unoccupied if they are above the Royal heads when they pass. Here the Prince probably will find every window packed with people looking down upon him.

When the House of Lords reassembles on Tuesday, April 12th, Lord Bledisloe will ask the Government if they can now state the personnel of the Royal Commission to inquire into the desirability of maintaining the embargo upon the importation of live cattle from abroad, other than those which are slaughtered at the ports; what are the terms of reference to it; and whether a time limit has been fixed within which its report shall be forthcoming.

On Monday, 4th, Mr. Kiley will ask the Chief Secretary whether his attention has been called to the decrees of Dail Eireann with reference to the census, and, if so, what action he intends to take in the matter. He will also ask what is the number of local authorities outside Ulster who do, and do not, respectively recognise the Irish Local Government Board. On the same day Sir Frederick Hall will ask the Prime Minister if it is the intention of the Government that the Irish question shall be placed before the forthcoming Imperial Conference with the Dominion representatives for discussion.

Sir Harry Hope on Tuesday, April 5th, will ask the Minister of Agriculture whether, in view of the serious hindrance to beef production entailed by the present restriction on the importation of store cattle from Ireland, and taking into consideration the fact that no outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has been recorded in Ireland for ever two months, he will now remove all restrictions on the importation and sale of Irish store cattle into Scotland.

AUSTRALIAN LABOUR AND A REPUBLIC.

The Victorian Labour Conference here to-day, says a Melbourne telegram, dated Sunday, rejected a motion in favour of the eventual proclamation of an Australian Republic.

HOME RULE ACT.

APPOINTED DAYS FIXED.

TRANSFER OF SERVICES.

FINANCIAL AND LEGAL POSITIONS.

It is announced that at the meeting of the Privy Council on Thursday an Order was made fixing "appointed days" for bringing the Government of Ireland Act into operation.

The 19th April next has been fixed as the appointed day for the provisions which authorise the making of Orders in Council, etc. This will enable the necessary arrangements to be made in advance for the setting in motion the Parliaments and Governments of Southern and Northern Ireland, including the adaptation and modification of the law relating to Parliamentary elections. The date fixed for bringing the provisions of the Act generally into operation is the 3rd of May next, but certain matters of a nature requiring consultation with the new Governments when established are excluded, and as regards these there will be no change until subsequent appointed days are fixed.

The transfer of public services and officers to the new Governments cannot be effected until the result of the elections is known, and the new Governments have been established. The new financial system cannot come into operation until the new Governments are in a position to take over their financial powers and responsibilities, and for similar reasons the new Supreme Courts in Southern and Northern Ireland will not be set up until a later date.

On or about the 3rd of May proclamations will be issued by the Lord Lieutenant, summoning the new Parliaments in His Majesty's name. The elections to the House of Commons will, as stated by the Prime Minister, be held in May, but the actual dates of nomination and poll are dependent upon the date upon which the proclamations are issued. The first meetings of the Parliaments will be held on days to be specified in the proclamations.

THE NORTHERN LORD CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

The appointment of a Lord Chief Justice for North-East Ulster is one of the preliminary steps which must be taken before the Home Rule Act becomes operative in the North. The Act specifies that the appointment must be made at least a month before the meeting of the Northern Parliament. It is generally understod that Mr. Denis Henry, the Attorney-General for Ireland, will have the offer of the appointment, and that he will probably accept it.

POSITION IN ULSTER.

VARIOUS PARTY ATTITUDES.

Our Belfast Correspondent writes:—The official announcement of the dates fixed by the Privy Council as the "appointed days" for bringing the Government of Ireland Act into operation were the dates which were generally anticipated in Ulster. The 19th of April has for some weeks been regarded as the probable date for making the necessary Orders in Council under the Act, and the official announcement will enable the preparations which have already begun in connection with the setting up of the Parliament to be proceeded with. It will not be until the Executive Government is appointed—which will depend on the result of the elections—and the number of departments is fixed, that steps can be taken to transfer the Northern Irish services to the Northern Parliament. Existing Irish services operating in Northern Ireland are automatically transferred to the Northern Parliament, but it is obvious that the Irish services operated from Dublin could not be divided and transferred to the North until there is an Executive to which they can be assigned. The preliminary work of setting up the departments will engage the attention of the Executive Government for some time, and will be one of the first duties they will be called upon to discharge. There is a general desire in Ulster to have as few departments as possible, and in these circumstances it will be necessary to group a number of services under the control of one Minister. While tentative arrangements can be made for establishing departments, no definite steps can be taken until after the elections.

A CIVIL SERVICE COMMITTEE.

When the Parliaments are elected and the Governments appointed, the Act provides for the establishment of a Civil Service Committee, charged with the division of the public services between Northern and Southern Ireland. It does not necessarily follow that all the public services will be transferred at the one time, but appointed days may be fixed for each service according as arrangements can be made for accommodating officials and departments.

THE ELECTIONS.

More immediate work in connection with the establishment of the Parliaments will devolve upon the Sheriffs and returning officers, who will now have to make the necessary arrangements for holding the elections under the Proportional Representation system. In the extended electoral areas provided in the Act, in one case embracing two counties, a considerable amount of preliminary work in this direction has already been done, but as a result of the announcement of the "appointed day" more definite arrangements can be made. Preparations for elections will also be hurried forward in Ulster by the various political parties.

Sir James Craig, Ulster Unionist Leader, is expected to arrive in Belfast within the next few weeks to open the Unionist election campaign, and it is understood that he is to issue an important statement, embracing the Ulster Unionist policy. Candidates have been selected by the Unionist Association Committees in most of the constituencies, but these are subject to confirmation by general meetings of the associations, which will now be held at early dates.

The Nationalist and Sinn Fein Parties in Ulster have arrived at a working agreement to contest the elections in all divisions, but it is stated that their candidates who may be successful are not to sit in the new Parliaments.

The Independent Labour Party are not putting forward candidates in the Belfast divisions, but intend to leave the fight to the older parties. Labour, however, will be represented by four or five Labour-Unionist candidates, nominated by the Labour-Unionist Association.

The Ulster Farmers' Union is refraining from putting forward candidates in rural districts, but will use its influence on behalf of candidates who will support agricultural interests. The Ulster Temperance Party, an active organisation, is adopting a similar policy. It is exercising influence with Unionist Associations to select candidates pledged to support the local veto.

FORD WORKS, CORK.

CLOSED ON SATURDAY.

Our Cork Correspondent telegraphs:—The great tractor works of Ford and Sons, Cork, which employed from 1,500 to 2,000 hands, closed down on Saturday.

It is hoped that the cessation is only of a temporary character.

MINERS AND THEIR WAGES.

The National Delegate Conference of the Miners' Federation was held on Saturday in London to consider whether the Federation should depart from the fundamental principle of the National Wages Board, or accept the temporary settlement on a district basis, in accordance with the owners' proposals. The delegates recognised that a decision to adhere to the demand for a national settlement might mean a general cessation of work on April 1st.

Notices will be posted at the pitheads this week by the coalowners intimating the conditions upon which work will be open to miners as from April 1st.

Mr. Evan Williams stated on Friday night that the coalowners have sent to the Government their report on the regulation of wages and on the impossibility of arriving at an agreement with the miners. The owners' proposals assured the maintenance of district rates of wages and of additions which had been made, and, as regards profits, if the selling price left a surplus, their proposal was that 80 per cent. should go to the workpeople, in addition to wages, and 20 per cent. to the owners.

AN OFFICER'S ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

At an inquest at Portland on the body of Lieutenant John Frederick Reid, of the 2nd Battalion the Royal Fusiliers, who died in his sleeping quarters early on Friday morning from gunshot wounds, it was stated that the deceased officer was 27 years old, unmarried, and lived at Cheam, Surrey. A brother-officer stated that after dinner Lieutenant Reid, who was very excited, came into the bedroom which they shared and flourished an automatic pistol. The witness heard him say, "I am fed up with this," and immediately the pistol was fired. A shot went through the deceased's head.

It was stated that Lieutenant Reid had sent in his papers and was going to leave the Army for private reasons known only to the War Office, which, the Coroner said, did not reflect in any way upon the officer's honour.

Several officers of the regiment said, in evidence, that Lieutenant Reid had never threatened suicide.

A verdict of accidentally shot was returned.

The Petit Journal reports that seven workmen were killed as the result of an explosion in a factory at Rombach, in Lorraine.

RIOTING IN INDIA.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

POLICE FIRE ON MOB.

FOUR KILLED AND TWELVE WOUNDED.

The following communiqué was issued by the India Office on Saturday afternoon:—

The Secretary of State for India has received the following report as to the fact of another local riot, ending in regrettable loss of life, which has occurred in the Rae Bareli district of the United Provinces, as the result of local agitation. Information was received that four itinerant agitators intended to hold a large meeting and make speeches at Karhaiya, in the Salon Tahsil, on 20th March, which is a bazaar day. Orders were issued prohibiting speeches at the meeting, and for the arrest of the four agitators. The sub-inspector of Salon, accompanied by one other sub-inspector and five armed police, went to Karhaiya on the 20th March and arrested Brijpal Singh and Shanku Singh, two of the agitators mentioned above. They were attacked by the crowd, which rescued the prisoners and drove back the police, who retreated firing, and took refuge in a house belonging to a widow Talauqdar lady. In this house they were besieged by the crowd, who tried to break in, but were repulsed by the fire of the police. Two of the rioters were killed and five wounded in this affair. The besieged succeeded in communicating with the Deputy Commissioner. The latter, with other officers and twenty-eight armed police, arrived in a motor-bus, and rescued the police, who were being threatened with death by the leaders of the mob. The Deputy Commissioner endeavoured, but without success, to induce the crowd to disperse. The leaders continued to harangue them throughout the night, assuring them that Gandhi would arrive in the morning.

PACIFIC EFFORTS UNAVAILING.

In the meantime parties under Brijpal Singh, who, when arrested, stated that he is an ex-sepoy of the 9th Bhopal Infantry, picketed the roads round the village. A force of one Daffadar and ten sowars of mounted police, who arrived at Karhaiya at about 7 a.m., were held up on the road, but eventually succeeded in evading the pickets, and reached the Talauqdarin's house where the Deputy Commissioner and his party had taken up their quarters. The rioters also used carts to block the road. In the morning an attempt was made to disperse the crowd peaceably by mounted and foot police. Brijpal Singh was arrested, and taken to Rae Bareli by motor. While the crowd was being dispersed the Deputy Commissioner and Superintendent of Police seized Shanku, the other ringleader. The crowd made a rush to rescue him, and surrounded these two officers. A police constable, seeing their danger, fired, and other armed police ran forward and surrounded the Deputy Commissioner and Superintendent, firing to keep off the crowd. Shanku Singh, who had managed to break away, was eventually captured, wounded in the arm.

Casaulties in this affair were:—One killed, and one died of wounds, and seven wounded. The wounded were at once attended by the Sub-Assistant Surgeon of Salon. The mob, as on previous occasions, contained a large proportion of local bad characters. The behaviour and discipline of the police are reported to have been excellent. Order has been restored. The Commissioner of Lucknow has proceeded to the spot.

PRISONERS BREAK OUT OF JAIL.

Another communiqué states:—

The Secretary of State for India has received information of the following occurrence in Bengal. Six hundred prisoners broke out from the Rajshahi Central Jail on Friday, the 25th March, taking with them arms and ammunition belonging to the guard. Further information is awaited. The Commissioner and Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal, have been ordered to proceed to the spot. The plot has possibly been organised by political convicts, as shouts were raised of "Maharaj Gandhi Ki Jai."

INDIA'S FISCAL POLICY.

MISTAKEN CRITICISM OF THE REFORMS ACT.

THE ASSEMBLY AND MONEY BILLS.

A Reuter telegram from Delhi, dated Thursday, says:—At to-day's sitting of the Council of State, the well known Allahabad barrister, Mr. Raza Ali, moved a resolution requesting the Viceroy to convey to His Majesty's Government the considered opinion of the Council of State that attempts in certain quarters in England to obstruct the working of the Reforms Act are calculated to endanger the new régime. Mr. Raza Ali particularly referred to the attempt of certain circles in Manchester to dictate India's fiscal policy, the formation of an Emergency Committee, and the criticisms in Parliament of Harkishen Lal's appointment.

Sir Alexander Murray, representing the Calcutta commercial community, thought that the anti-India movement in England was a minor affair destined to die a natural death. The protest of the European community against the formation of the Emergency Committee was based on the apprehension that the followers of Mr. Gandhi would misconstrue its objects, whereas the Europeans believed that the Committee actually favoured the reforms.

Sir William Vincent advised the withdrawal of the motion. He said that he did not think that the Council of State was the proper place for such a discussion.

Professor Kale, of Poona, said that certain people in England seemed completely to forget that the Reforms Act had been passed. This resolution would bring the truth plainly home to them.

Other speakers thought that the importance of the agitation had been over-estimated, and considered that the Council would best show its dignity by ignoring pettifogging agitators who were discredited in England and India.

The motion was rejected without a division.

A CONSTITUTIONAL PROBLEM.

An interesting Constitutional problem concerning the relationship between the Council of State and the Legislative Assembly arose during the discussion of the Finance Bill to-day. The bill was returned to the Assembly by the Council of State, with certain amendments, and the members of the Assembly challenged the right of the Council of State to interfere with money bills. The President pointed out that there was no special provision for the settlement of differences between the two Houses regarding money bills beyond a joint Session, which, however, could not be held until six months had elapsed. As it was essential that the Budget should be passed immediately, the Finance Minister suggested a compromise whereby the Assembly should pass the bill with all the Council's amendments, and the Government should undertake to exercise its executive rights regarding the new minimum postal rates which the Assembly objected to raising.

The bill was then passed.

THE AFGHAN MISSION.

A Reuter telegram of the same day says:—The following official statement is issued here to-day:—Taking advantage of the lull in the Afghan negotiations, Sir Henry Dobbs, the head of the British Mission, has left Kabul on a flying visit to Delhi to report progress in person to the Viceroy, Lord Chelmsford, prior to the latter's departure for England. Sir Henry is expected to arrive in Delhi on the 26th March, and hopes to be back in Kabul on the 1st April. The other members of the mission are remaining in Kabul.

INDEPENDENT LABOUR VIEWS.

Advocating the public ownership of banking at the Independent Labour Party's Local Government Conference at Southport on Saturday, Alderman Leach, of Bradford, said that the bank buildings were palatial because banking concerns had a knowledge of human psychology. A lavish display of marble and mahogany led people to believe that those were just the places at which to deposit their money, because of their apparent safety. (Laughter.)

Strong criticism was levelled at Mrs. Ethel Snowden at the conference yesterday on account of her atitude and views towards the Soviet system in Russia, as expressed on platforms and in the Press. One delegate said that Mrs. Snowden had gone out of her way to attack the first attempt to establish a working class Government in the world.

A motion opposing Mrs. Snowden's nomination for a seat on the Executive of the National Labour Party was defeated on a card vote.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD AND THE PRIME MINISTER.

Addressing a mass meeting of the Independent Labour Party at Southport last night, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said that the Prime Minister, in selecting their party as a bogey to place before the people, had done so because it was wielding the only weapons that would ever establish an economic and democratic Government. He accused them of a series of social crimes, of every one of which he and his Government were guilty. Having torn up the rails, he had deliberately placed the train on the broken rails and was wrecking it.

TAUNTON BY-ELECTION.

Speaking in connection with the Taunton by-election on Saturday, Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen said that he stood for agricultural industry, and not for sectional interests. If industry prospered, it was good for the landlord, the farmer, and the labourer. If it suffered, there was little for either.

The bill was then passed.

THE AFGHAN MISSION.

A Reuter telegram of the same day says:—The following official statement is issued here to-day:—Taking advantage of the lull in the Afghan negotiations, Sir Henry Dobbs, the head of the British Mission, has left Kabul on a flying visit to Delhi to report progress in person to the Viceroy, Lord Chelmsford, prior to the latter's departure for England. Sir Henry is expected to arrive in Delhi on the 28th March, and hopes to be back in Kabul on the 1st April. The other members of the mission are remaining in Kabul.

INDEPENDENT LABOUR VIEWS.

Advocating the public ownership of banking at the Independent Labour Party's Local Government Conference at Southport on Saturday, Alderman Leach, of Bradford, said that the bank buildings were palatial because banking concerns had a knowledge of human psychology. A lavish display of marble and mahogany led people to believe that those were just the places at which to deposit their money, because of their apparent safety. (Laughter.)

Strong criticism was levelled at Mrs. Ethel Snowden at the conference yesterday on account of her attitude and views towards the Soviet system in Russia, as expressed on platforms and in the Press. One delegate said that Mrs. Snowden had gone out of her way to attack the first attempt to establish a working class Government in the world.

A motion opposing Mrs. Snowden's nomination for a seat on the Executive of the National Labour Party was defeated on a card vote.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD AND THE PRIME MINISTER.

Addressing a mass meeting of the Independent Labour Party at Southport last night, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said that the Prime Minister, in selecting their party as a bogey to place before the people, had done so because it was wielding the only weapons that would ever establish an economic and democratic Government. He accused them of a series of social crimes, of every one of which he and his Government were guilty. Having torn up the rails, he had deliberately placed the train on the broken rails and was wrecking it.

TAUNTON BY-ELECTION.

Speaking in connection with the Taunton by-election on Saturday, Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen said that he stood for agricultural industry, and not for sectional interests. If industry prospered, it was good for the landlord, the farmer, and the labourer. If it suffered, there was little for either.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

COAL AND COMMON-SENSE.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, says:—Unless a decided change in the situation takes place within the next three days coal-getting will cease in Great Britain on the fourth day. We say that it will cease, because, although the pits will remain open, and the majority of miners in some districts do not want to cease work, loyalty to the Federation will in all probability induce them to throw in their lot with the other and more numerous districts which refuse to work on the owners' terms. In any case, there would be a very large cessation of work, and it may even begin at once as a continuation of the Easter holidays, without waiting for the fourth day. If this thing happens it will be a more bitter satire on human reason than the great war itself. For one of the attributes which distinguished man from what he is pleased to call the "lower animals" is the power of settling disputes by discussion, whereas they have no means but force, as Cicero observed in the celebrated passage which Machiavelli annexed in "Il Principe," and Grotius drew upon for his classical definition of war. War is a resort to force, implying a breakdown of the reasoning faculty. But in the great war Germany and Austria stood to gain something, and at a very moderate cost, according to their calculations. In this coal war, if it occurs, nobody can gain anything. Both sides must lose, and not only they but every single member of the community. The failure of discussion, therefore, and the resort to force, would be a more complete breakdown of reason than the war. Perhaps some of the national common-sense on which so many public speakers have expatiated of late may assert itself and save the situation, adds The Times. That quality must suggest to some members at least of the Labour Party that a coal strike will not swell the flowing tide of their political success, but rather turn it back. One possible way out of the deadlock would be a short prolongation of Government control to give the parties a little more time to reach a settlement, but the only condition that would justify that course—which would cost the taxpayers at the rate of five millions a month—would be a definite prospect of agreement in sight. At present there is no such prospect.

THE PATH OF FAILURE.

The Government have fixed April 19 as the appointed day for the launching of their Irish Act, observes The Times editorially to-day. Early in May proclamations are to be issued summoning the Parliaments to meet, and during that month the elections are to take place. In the North Nationalists and Sinn Feiners are likely to boycott the new Legislature, while in the South Sinn Fein may take advantage of the elections once again to show its strength. Were Ireland in the mood to heed counsels of reason, we should urge that she might find in the elections an opportunity to forsake the barren path of rebellion and to return to constitutional methods. The Government of Ireland Act confers wide powers upon her, with every facility for making them wider still. If Irishmen chose to use them they could be made a means of achieving peacefully a solution of the national problem more satisfactory and far less costly than any to be attained by present methods. But Ireland, in her present temper, is not open to mere persuasion. The Prime Minister did, indeed, say to the House of Commons last Wednesday, "You will never settle a trouble like that of Ireland until you understand the fundamental facts and difficulties," but the aphorism was singularly unimpressive in his mouth, for, while he went on to confess the complete failure of himself and his colleagues, he proved himself entirely unable to explain it. On the other hand, he made it clear that the Government intend to proceed with their Irish policy, not because they are confident of its results, but because their imagination had failed to suggest any alternative. We do not question the desire of the Prime Minister or of his Cabinet to achieve an Irish settlement. Their schemes of reconstruction must necessarily remain incomplete, and the adaptation of the old party system to present political needs be hampered, while "Ireland blocks the way." Moreover, the political reward that awaits the man who masters this problem is far too obvious to have escaped the Prime Minister's acute attention. But he still shrinks from the act of faith by which alone he can secure that reward. The failure of the Government of Ireland Act to satisfy any section of Southern Irish opinion, the culpable blunderings, and still more culpable immoralities of his Irish administration, his powerlessness to cope with the circumstances which even now threaten to overwhelm his Irish Government, are all attributable to a single cause—failure to understand and to reckon with the new Ireland that emerged from the European war. In the critical period which followed the Armistice British Statesmen failed to realise that, in order to win Ireland for the British Commonwealth, it was essential that they should no longer treat the Irish question in the old way as a merely sectional issue, but should approach it from a fresh standpoint in the light of the proved solidarity and persistence of the new Irish movement. Events have since shown how woeful was their error. If the hopeless conflict which is daily bringing fresh disgrace and disaster both upon Ireland and upon Great Britain is not to continue, they must recant it, as they have recanted their faith in the methods hitherto pursued. We counsel no surrender to crime, but we do most strongly counsel, as the essential preliminary to better things, recognition of the realities of the position. Otherwise, in the early summer there will merely be substituted for the existing deadlock a deadlock still more complete. The path to an honourable settlement still lies open, though it is narrowing daily. Unless it be trodden without delay the only other path will be the path that leads through further death and destruction to failure, utter and irreparable.

IRISH FINANCE.

In the course of a long letter to The Times to-day, Mr. George W. Russell ("Æ") writes:—It is the policy of Government spokesmen to deny that the Irish people have real grievances, or if there are any they are removed by the recent Act. But I assert that the Act inflicts on us, and makes permanent, deeper grievances than those it removes. I will take but one out of many an economic grievance, for I know how vain is the endeavour to make an alien people understand the spiritual or cultural moods which have with us the strength of religion. I wish to show how inevitable it is under this Act that there must be economic stagnation and decay as there was under the Act of Union. After 1800 a transfer of wealth from Ireland to Great Britain began. The aristocratic classes moved to the new centre of political power, and their revenues raised in Ireland were spent in Great Britain, with the result that many industries previously sustained by the expenditure of that wealth in Ireland began to decay. Then there came the amalgamation of the Exchequers, and the surplus revenues of Ireland again were spent in England. At present the excess of revenue over expenditure is £21,394,000, and under the new Act the tribute which Ireland must pay annually to Great Britain is fixed at £18,000,000. Every economist knows that the fund out of which production is maintained in any country comes from wages, salaries, and profits or dividends. If the sum of these is lessened, consumption must fall. This affects production, and there is consequent unemployment. Now, the effect of the annual payment to Great Britain of so huge a tribute, fixed in a time of inflated prices and profits, must be exactly the same as if wages, salaries, and profits had been decreased in Ireland by that amount. Consumption must fall, production be correspondingly affected, and unemployment be inevitable. Great Britain benefits by the purchasing power transferred from Ireland, which, whether transferred from Ireland, which, whether dispensed in orders for ships, equipment, salaries, or interest on loans, helps to sustain production and consumption, while with us there must be stagnation and export of population, to which export of revenue always leads. What can Ireland do but cut down its standard of living, which was what took place in the early part of last century? The apologists for the Coalition speak of the prosperity of Ireland. They can only do so by ignoring the interpretation placed on Irish statistics by the officials who collect them. The deposits in the banks have increased, but the official statistician warns the reader that they represent less purchasing power than half the amount in 1914. The nominal values of imports and exports have increased, but the volume remains very much the same as in 1904, when the statistics were first collected. The flooding of a country with depreciated paper money adds nothing to the wealth or comfort of its people. Ireland, adds the writer, is the only country in Europe which has lost half of its population within the memory of men still living, and that is because it is the only country in Europe whose revenues, and the purchasing power connected therewith, have been systematically transferred to another country. I was asked lately by one who would inquire into Irish conditions for introductions to Irish Unionists. I tried to think of some. I used to know many Deputy-Lieutenants, Privy Counsellors, and the like who were the bulwark of the British connection. I could not now think of one who did not feel as bitterly about British policy in Ireland as Sinn Feiners do, though they still desired to remain in the British Commonwealth as a Dominion. There was not one I knew who desired any further interference in Irish affairs than such a status allowed.

The Correspondent of the Excelsior at Oppeln declares that two French deputies were fired upon by Germans in Upper Silesia, but were not injured.

GREEK OFFENSIVE.

KEMALIST TROOPS RUSHED FROM CILICIA.

BRITISH NEUTRALITY.

GENERAL WRANGEL'S POSITION.

According to an Athens telegram dated Saturday, an official Greek communiqué from the Asia Minor Headquarters states:—The Greek Army continued its advance in the Ushak sector. The enemy, after putting up a feeble resistance, was driven back from the fortified ridge, Agar-Dagh-Tonloun-Bonna, to fifty kilometres east of Ushak. Over two hundred prisoners and several guns and war material fell into our hands. Our losses were small. In the Brussa sector the enemy, after a feeble resistance, was driven from his positions and pursued. Our troops occupied about eighty kilometres east of Obrussa. Our losses were insignificant. The Greek Army will resume its pursuit of the enemy to-morrow.

All sections of the Press here, says an Athens message dated Friday, are making a great deal of the communiqué issued yesterday, which has not so far been followed by any other, and it is explained that General Papoulas, the Greek Commander-in-Chief, is awaiting tangible results before making any further announcement. The news from Turkish sources indicates that a certain uneasiness prevails among the Kemalists at the Greek offensive, whilst the Government's silence regarding the arrangements for financing the campaign is causing much perturbation among the public, the issuing of an internal loan being apprehended, which would be most unwelcome at the present juncture, when conditions are very difficult. The Government would, doubtless, prefer a foreign loan if it were available. The apparent absence of good-will in France towards Greece is also a disquieting factor.

Reuter's Agency learns that, according to an official telegram from Athens, the following bulletin, dated March 25, has been issued there: The advance of our troops continues. The southernmost (Ushak) group, after ejecting the enemy, is in hot pursuit, on the heights to the east of Tonloubunar, notwithstanding difficulties caused by the fall of abundant snow. Our casualties are four killed and 28 wounded, and two officers wounded. We made 320 prisoners, including three officers, and captured four guns, four machine-guns, and a considerable quantity of war material, including eleven truck-loads of timber. The Northern (Brussa) group advanced up to the line of Bazarjik-Yenikney, ten kilometres east of Bilejik. Our aviators bombed the aerodrome of Eskishehr, and the retreating enemy.

Reuter's Agency adds:—Bazarjik is nine and a quarter miles south of Bilejik, 30 miles almost due east of Brussa. Ushak is on the railway 122 miles east of Smyrna.

According to a Constantinople message received in Paris, 30,000 Kemalist troops have been hastily withdrawn from Cilicia, being rushed to stem the rapid and sudden advance of the Greek Army.

BRITISH ACTION.

In order to affirm its strict neutrality in the present Turco-Greek hostilities, says a Constantinople message dated Saturday, the British Government has instructed General Sir C. H. Harington to relinquish the command of the Greek troops under his orders, chiefly in the Ismidt area. General Harington has consequently handed over the command of the Greeks and has withdrawn the British line to Chebre. All rolling stock, as well as naval units, have been recalled. The Greeks in the Ismidt area, consisting of the Eleventh Division, are advancing on Adabazar, and also southwards, in order to link up with the Broussa force.

A serious position has arisen in connection with the Russian refugees. The French Government has notified them that relief will be suspended after April 1, and has ordered the dissolution of General Wrangel's Army, offering to transport the refugees back to Russia or Brazil. General Wrangel declines to dissolve his Army. He has refused an invitation to go to Paris, and demands the return of his arms and munitions and means of transport to Russia, where, he says, his men prefer to die fighting. Unfortunately, the French have already sold General Wrangel's arms to Georgia, where they have fallen into the hands of the Bolsheviks. France is, therefore, unable, if willing, to comply with General Wrangel's request.

The Petit Parisien says:—If the French Government was compelled to inform General Wrangel that it could no longer support the refugees from the Crimea, it was only because of the French financial situation.

GERMAN COMMUNIST MOVEMENT.

Telegraphing from Berlin on Saturday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—According to Eisleben advices, twenty rioters were killed when the Security Police repulsed an attack on the City Hall on Friday. The police casualties were two dead and three wounded.

Sporadic fighting is reported from Hettstedt and Mansfeld.

JAPAN AND THE PACIFIC ISLANDS.

The Foreign Office, in a statement issued here (says a Tokio telegram of Friday's date) declares that the maintenance of peace in the Orient and the safeguarding of commerce and navigation in the Pacific was Japan's purpose in destroying the German Fleet and occupying the ex-German islands. In accordance with the Supreme Council's resolution in 1919, and the fixing by the League of Nations Council of the terms of the mandate in December last, Japan is now preparing a suitable administrative system, and will shortly abolish the military administration. The Foreign Office declares that the rumours about fortifications and naval activity are unfounded, that economically the islands are scarcely worth mentioning, and strategically they are unimportant, because Japan has disavowed any intention to establish military or naval bases and fortifications. One might as well say America controlled the Atlantic through the purchase of the Virgin Islands as say that by means of the mandate islands Japan staked out an area of four million square miles from Kamchatka to the South Pacific.

ADMINISTRATION OF EX-GERMAN EAST AFRICA.

Reuter's Correspondent in Dar-es-Salaam, telegraphing on Saturday, says—Sir Horace Byatt, the Governor, and Staff arrived at Kigoma, on the east side of Lake Tanganyika, last Sunday to take over the portions of ex-German East Africa hitherto administered by the Belgians. Official dinners were given by the Belgians and the British, at which speeches of the most cordial character were delivered.

On Tuesday afternoon the Belgian flag was formally lowered and the British flag hoisted in its place with impressive ceremony. Afterwards the leading Belgian officials embarked for Usambura.

THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR RELIEF IN IRELAND.

Having finished their tour of investigation, the eight representatives of the American Committee for Relief in Ireland will leave for America shortly, with the exception of Messrs. France and Wilbur, who will remain in Dublin. Messrs. William Price and Walter C. Longstreth have already left, and Messrs. Samuel D. McCoy and R. Barclay Spicer will sail for New York on 1st April. Messrs. Philip Furnas and John C. Baker will leave Dublin on Monday, but, prior to returning to America, will go to France and Germany. In Germany they will get into touch with members of the American Friends Society doing relief work in Central Europe, and in France will visit friends which they made in doing relief work in that area at the time of the late war. Mr. C. J. France, head of the Delegation, and Mr. Orrin B. Wilbur will remain in Dublin to represent the Committee pending the decision of the Executive Committee as to whether it will carry out the scheme of reconstruction recommended by the Delegation, or confine itself entirely to sending funds for personal relief.

PRESIDENT HARDING AND IRELAND.

Declaring that America will never be deaf to the call on behalf of suffering humanity (says a Washington telegram), President Harding has replied to the request made by the group of Irish leaders in New York, by wishing success to their meeting on April 3rd, to raise funds for the relief of women and children in Ireland. The President adds—The knowledge of the distress in Ireland makes a quick, deep appeal to the more fortunate of our own land, where so many of our citizens trace their kinship to the Emerald Isle.

A SHEFFIELD CRIME.

While patrolling near some works in Portobello street, Sheffield, late on Saturday night, a policeman saw a man running away, and, thinking that he had been loitering for no good purpose, [illegible] chase. He stopped on finding the body of [illegible] woman with a deep wound in her throat [illegible] man escaped.

The crime [illegible] is stated, followed a carousal in a publichouse.

THE SEIZURE OF ARMS IN DUBLIN.

FURTHER OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

MOUNTJOY SELECTED FOR ATTACK.

HOW THE MUNITIONS REACHED THE CITY.

According to an official statement which was issued yesterday, this Easter Monday will be a far quieter day in Dublin than it was intended to have been. The dumping of rebel arms and munitions in a building at Great Charles street was, according to the official communication, the second stage of a daring coup to be launched against Mountjoy Jail to-day for the liberation of certain prisoners.

The first stage was the smuggling of the equipment for the attack into Kerry from the sea. The second stage was the uninterrupted conveyance of the munitions overland and their successful delivery in Dublin.

The enterprise, thus far successful and betokening a remarkably efficient organisation, here miscarried. The authorities on Thursday and Friday unearthed the munitions.

How well equipped the attackers would have been is obvious from this list of the total haul made by the R.I.C. Auxiliaries in Charles street:—

Six rifles.
Six shot-guns.
43 revolvers.
408 bombs.
2,150 rounds rifle ammunition.
Twelve 18-pounder shells.
A pom-pom shell.
Detonators, motor cycles, etc.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

The official story of the origin and purpose of the dump, as issued by General Military Headquarters yesterday, reads:—

Discoveries in relation to the Sinn Fein store of arms in the Mountjoy square area, which were made by an Auxiliary company of the R.I.C. in Dublin on Thursday night, show that they had been landed on the coast of Kerry in fish barrels a few days before their capture.

From this point they were sent to Sligo, partly by train and partly by motor car. They left Sligo last Tuesday night, and arrived in Dublin next morning.

The bombs and field-gun shells were packed in boxes, labelled to a well-known English firm of cycle manufacturers, via an address in St. Stephen's Green, Dublin. This firm was, of course, entirely unaware of the matter, and the goods never reached their address, being intercepted by Sinn Fein agents, who took them to the stables in which they were discovered.

The arms, which were conveyed by road, were concealed in rolls of oilcloth and fishboxes.

It appears that this large consignment of munitions was brought to Dublin in connection with a plan to ambush Crown forces on their way to relieve the guard at Mountjoy Jail on Easter Monday. If this had proved successful, it was intended to attack the prison in the hope of rescuing the Sinn Fein prisoners.

The Ford car containing the bag of bombs which was captured with the store of arms was the motor taken by the Sinn Feiners during their attack on a party of Auxiliaries collecting mails at Ballsbridge Post Office some months ago. The stolen mails were found in a cave at Bantry a fortnight ago.

MORE ARMS AND BOMBS FOUND.

REVOLVERS IN A BLOCK OF WOOD.

Further examination of the stable and garage near Mountjoy square, which was raided by the Auxiliary Division, R.I.C. (reads an official report from Dublin Castle) led to the discovery of more bombs and ammunition concealed in various places. These included eight bombs and 300 rounds of rifle ammunition.

Inside the wainscotting of the room was a large block of wood which, when split open, was found to contain eight revolvers in a hollowed chamber.

ARRESTED EMIGRANTS.

Six men (says a later official report) were taken from the hotel at Seville place on the occasion of the arrest by the Auxiliaries of Sinn Fein policemen and intending emigrants. Three of these have returned to the hotel since.

RAIDER OUTWITTED.

ATTEMPT TO ROB DUBLIN BANK.

An armed would-be robber was on Saturday outwitted by officials of the Richmond street branch in Dublin of the Provincial Bank of Ireland.

The visitor, who was ordinarily well dressed, walked up to the cashier's section of the counter at 11 a.m., and, leaning over with a revolver, commanded the bank official to deliver the cash. "What cash?" asked the man who controlled it, gaining time, and the manager, Mr. Bennett, who was on the scene, gave word to a messenger to call the "point" duty policeman. The would-be robber heard the significant opening and closing of a door, and, dismayed at the prospect of being trapped, hurriedly pocketed his revolver and left.

Officials of this branch of the bank have been on the alert since the robbery of the building about five months ago, which involved a loss of £1,000.

BANK OFFICIALS ROBBED.

£500 TAKEN IN COUNTY CORK.

Dublin Castle reports:—

At 10 a.m on Thursday Mr. F. J. Hayes, accountant of the Provincial Bank of Ireland, Skibbereen district, and T. Brett, bank porter, were robbed at Woodlands of £500 by three armed and masked men, who decamped with the money.

It has been the practice of the officials of the Schull branch of the bank to attend each Thursday at Ballydehob and open a sub-branch of the bank for the convenience of customers attending the weekly market.

JUDGE'S CAR BORROWED BY ARMED MEN.

Four armed and masked men called at the residence of the Right Hon. Sir John Ross, Bart., Oatlands, Stillorgan, on Saturday night, and on being informed that the judge was away they told his daughter, Mrs. Saunders, that they wished to borrow Sir John Ross's motor car. They took the car and gave a receipt for it, signed by a "Commandant, I.R.A." An hour later, a little after 10 p.m., the car, in good condition, was returned to the garage.

KINGSTOWN MUNICIPAL YARD RAIDED.

Half a dozen armed and masked men raided the Kingstown Municipal Works yard on Saturday night, and took away a quantity of picks, shovels, and crowbars. They also took away a handcart, which the local police found in a laneway off Cross avenue, Kingstown, on Sunday. No trace of the men or other property has been discovered.

I.R.A. INTELLIGENCE REPORTS.

At a Field General Courtmartial at the North Dublin Union on Saturday Peter Ennis, Fourth avenue, Dublin, was charged with having in his possession documents purporting to be intelligence reports of the Irish Republican Army. The prisoner refused to recognise the Court.

A witness said that on January 12th he visited the house where Ennis was staying, and in a box under the bed found the documents. The prisoner said that he was an intelligence officer of the Irish Republican Army, Dublin area, and stated that he received the reports from his agents whom he met on the street.

Ennis declined to call witnesses for his defence.

Judgment was reserved.

POLICE SERGEANT WOUNDED.

Sergeant William Hanlon, R.I.C., while on duty in Ardfinnan, Co. Mayo, on Friday, was fired at and seriously wounded. He was brought to Tipperary Military Hospital on Saturday, and his condition is regarded as critical. It is stated that an arrest has been made in connection with the affair.

HUNGER STRIKER RE-ARRESTED.

A railway employe named John Doyle, belonging to Kingstown, who was sentenced to three years' penal servitude by a courtmartial in connection with the Dublin mountains affair, when a sergeant and constable were seized and their revolvers taken, and who was released from Mountjoy Jail after a hunger strike, was re-arrested last Thursday outside Harcourt street Railway Station.

RAID ON SINN FEIN IN DUBLIN.

PROPAGANDA OFFICES DISCOVERED.

TONS OF LITERATURE SEIZED.

A further discovery in Dublin by the Crown forces is officially announced.

Within a short distance of the building that had been used as the Headquarters of the I.R.A. on the south side of the city a company of the Auxiliary Division of the Royal Irish Constabulary on Saturday night found the Sinn Fein propaganda headquarters. This department of Sinn Fein was located in rooms at 11 Molesworth street, a building the very name of whose tenants would disarm suspicion. Portions of the building are used by professional men as offices and by charitable societies.

The official communiqué says:—

The headquarters of the Sinn Fein Propaganda Department were raided last (Saturday) night by C Company Auxiliary Division of the R.I.C., and the visit resulted in the largest capture of seditious literature yet made in Ireland.

Several tons of files of books and literature were removed in the Government lorries.

The building where the discovery was made is 11 Molesworth street.

When the Auxiliaries' raiding party entered the house the important nature of the find was at once apparent. The office equipment was of an elaborate character, including "Roneo" duplicators, typewriters, and desks, which had been used by clerks.

There were departments dealing with propaganda work in foreign countries, including Italy, France, and Spain, with files of letters to Sinn Fein agents, and also of priests in all those countries.

All the leading newspapers of Great Britain were filed, and there were some scores of large volumes of newspaper cuttings of matter that had obtained publicity through the department.

A large issue of circular letters to members of Parliament was among the documents captured.

In the "Parliamentary" section there were captures of the latest Dáil Eireann order, dated March 23, proclaiming a boycott on certain British goods.

There was no one in the office at the time of the raid, which was made in the middle of the Curfew period.

COUNTY DUBLIN VILLAGE INVESTED.

EXTENSIVE SEARCH AT STILLORGAN.

The village of Stillorgan, County Dublin, was invested by military on Saturday morning. The troops arrived in about forty motor lorries, and were accompanied by armoured cars. They encircled the village at about 2.30 o'clock, and placed Lewis guns in position at different points. A search of every house within the cordon followed, and lasted until 10 o'clock, until which time the village was completely isolated. All the men in the houses were ordered to get out of bed and dress, and were marched in batches to a place near the Protestant church, where they were lined up along the road. There were about 300 men in the group, and each was asked his name and address, and if he was associated with the Irish Volunteers. While the questioning was in progress a tender, in which there were Auxiliary police, drove up and down, and eleven young men were picked out. They were placed in a lorry and were driven to Dublin. The names of the men are—John and Thomas Carroll, Thomas and Edward Fogarty, John and Robert Goodwin, Michael McDonnell, Daniel Dowdall, Laurence Byrne, J. Hanley, and John Craven. Hanley, who is an ex-soldier, was later released. At ten o'clock the men who had been lined up on the roadside were allowed to return to their homes.

R.A.F. MEN ATTACKED.

BOMB IN SACKVILLE STREET DUBLIN.

SOLDIERS AND CIVILIANS WOUNDED.

A bomb and revolvers were used in an attack on two military lorries in Sackville street, Dublin, at about 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Two soldiers and some civilians were wounded. The soldiers were members of the Royal Air Force.

The Air Force party travelled through Parnell street to Sackville street, and when their car and tender arrived near the intersection of the two streets they were compelled to slacken pace. At the corner there was a temporary congestion of traffic of various kinds, and many people were in the street.

A bomb was thrown at the leading car before it actually reached Sackville street. It burst on the ground, and at the explosion traffic cleared at once and people rushed for shelter to the shops. Several cab-horses standing in the vicinity bolted, and a civilian was knocked down by one of them and badly shaken. The driver of the lorry seemed, at a glance, to have been wounded by the bomb, but, at all events, he retained sufficient control of the machine to speed on through the cleared way into Sackville street. The tender travelled close in the rear.

Revolver shots immediately followed the throwing of the bomb, being directed at the occupants of both cars. However, the first lorry drew most of the fire. One of its occupants sprang from it into the street, and ran towards the Gresham Hotel, near which two other military lorries were drawn up. He fell, apparently shot in the back, and was a few minutes later picked up and taken to hospital.

Within a few minutes of the first attack, according to an observer, shots were fired from Findlater's place at a lorry passing in Sackville street, but it is believed that no wounding resulted from this attack.

Some persons who were in the street at the time declare that in the first encounter the military replied with revolver and rifle fire, but this is not clearly established. The official account says the men in the first lorries were unarmed.

A military party in a lorry near the Post Office pointed rifles and revolvers towards the north end of Sackville street to cover the retreat of the R.A.F. vehicles, but did not fire.

It is believed that in the panic many people received minor hurts, but those actually wounded were:—

Patrick Sax, 10 Lower Dominick street, shot in left thigh.

Patrick O'Reilly, Queen street, shot in leg and arm.

Annie Seville, 17 Findlater's place, wounded in the head.

Annie Flynn, 4 Parnell street, wounded in the leg.

The first two young men were employed by McInally's shop, near where the bombing occurred.

The soldiers were both badly hurt. Private David Hayden was shot in the shoulder, and Private Alfred Brown received a bullet in the lung. Both are in King George V. Hospital. Brown's wound is particularly serious.

The General Headquarters report of the affair says:—

"At about 2.45 this (Saturday) afternoon an R.A.F. car and tender proceeding down Sackville street was fired at by a number of civilians from the corner of Parnell street, resulting in the wounding of two men of the Royal Air Force.

"The fire was not returned. All the occupants of the car were unarmed."

SHOOTING IN THOMAS STREET.

MEN WITH REVOLVERS SEEN TO FALL.

The following official report was issued by General Headquarters in Dublin last night:—

As a tender containing one N.C.O. and five men was proceeding slowly down Thomas street, Dublin, at five o'clock on Saturday afternoon a man rushed out and called on the driver to halt. The driver accelerated, and the civilian fired into the tender, while men on both sides of the street also opened fire.

The fire was returned, and three men, all carrying revolvers, were seen to fall. Two of them were shot at close range. One soldier was seriously wounded.

Inquiries made in the district show that a youth named Thomas Donnelly, of Cork street, and a girl whose name is unknown were wounded during the attack on the tender.

ATTACK AT RIALTO BRIDGE.

LIMBER WAGGON DAMAGED.

An official report issued on Saturday night states:—

"At about 3.45 this afternoon a number of armed civilians held up a military limber waggon, in charge of an unarmed fatigue party, near Rialto Bridge (Dublin). After cutting the harness and detaching the wheels from the limber they unsuccessfully tried to burn its contents. They then made off, and did no further damage."

RAILWAY STATIONS BURNED.

GREAT DESTRUCTION.

SIX BURNINGS IN COUNTY ANTRIM.

ROAD BRIDGES DESTROYED

At about 2.30 on Friday afternoon, according to a Dublin Castle statement, the signal cabin of Killagean, Co. Antrim, railway station was destroyed by fire, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to destroy the goods store and waiting room.

Similar attempts were made at Glarryford. Parkmore and Retreat Railway Stations were burned down.

Ballymena goods store, signal cabin, and waiting room were burned to the ground.

At Carghan, the railway station, the signal cabin, stationmaster's office, and waiting room were burned to the ground.

MILITARY STORES ROBBED.

On Thursday night three armed men entered the premises of the Cork and Bandon Railway at Summerhill street and inquired if there were any goods consigned to the military at Ballincollig. They then searched the premises and removed a box weighing 72lbs. and containing military stores.

MAIL TRAIN FIRED AT

At 2.30 a.m. on Saturday (says another official report from Dublin Castle) the mail train from Belfast to Clones was fired at by about 50 men a mile from Glaslough. Nobody on the train was injured.

A number of men seen near the railway bridge at Ballaghadereen, County Mayo, at 11.15 o'clock on Saturday night, fired on the police sentries when challenged. An exchange of shots took place for some minutes. The police suffered no casualties.

ROAD MINE IN COUNTY KILKENNY.

A TIMELY DISCOVERY.

A well-laid mine, containing several hundredweight of ammonal and a fuse (says an official report from Dublin Castle), has been discovered by a party of the Auxiliary Division of the R.I.C. in County Kilkenny. The mine was laid under a bridge in the neighbourhood of the Auxiliaries' headquarters, and was found just in time to avert disaster to several tender loads of Cadets.

Great assistance to the Crown forces (continues the report) is being rendered by the local inhabitants, who have begun to come forward to denounce the attempts of Sinn Fein to commit outrages in the district. Several ambushes have already been frustrated in this manner.

EXPLOSION IN KILKENNY.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED.

Writing on Saturday, our Kilkenny Correspondent says:—Yesterday afternoon, about two o'clock, a terrific explosion occurred in the house of John Fahy, a railway guard, in Upper Patrick street, Kilkenny, resulting in the death of his little daughter, aged about seven years, and serious injury to his wife.

At the time Mrs. Fahy and the little girl were in the kitchen, when suddenly the whole house seemed to shake, and an explosion occurred in the fireplace. The grate was blown across the kitchen, and the fireplace itself was almost demolished. The little girl, though bearing no marks of serious injury, died almost instantaneously, presumably from shock. Mrs. Fahy received a serious wound in the back of the head, and her right side was also seriously injured. She was attended by two doctors, and was subsequently removed to hospital.

Some substance in the coal is presumed to be the cause of the explosion, which was heard over a wide area, and created a great sensation.

DESTRUCTION OF BRIDGES.

FAIRS AND MARKETS PROHIBITED.

Writing on Saturday, our Navan Correspondent states:—Owing to the great destruction of bridges on the public road in the County Meath, the authorities have given notice that, from the 1st April, all fairs and markets in the Trim, Navan, and Kells areas will be prohibited until the bridges are repaired and the work of destruction abandoned. If this step does not prove effective, the authorities, it is stated, have in contemplation the adoption of more stern measures. The Trim fair to-day was stopped by the police. In the Trim area the destruction of the bridges has been very extensive. The road leading from Trim to Athboy and from Athboy to Delvin has been damaged. The main road leading from Oldcastle to Castlepollard is also unsafe for traffic. All along the County Westmeath border the roads are more or less damaged—in fact, with the exception of the main road from Dublin to Navan all the roads in the county are rendered dangerous by means of the bridges having been damaged. At Ardbraccan, three miles from Navan, a bridge over the Navan-Bohermeen road has been blown up for the second time. The interference with the fairs in Meath will paralyse the cattle industry if the prohibition is long in force.

MAN SHOT IN KERRY.

It is officially reported from Dublin Castle that an unknown man, apparently a tramp, aged 30, was found shot dead near Kenmare. He was blindfolded, his hands were tied behind his back, and a card attached to his body stated "Spies, beware. I.R.A."

FARMER BADLY WOUNDED.

Henry Karr, farmer, 65, of Ballybay, Co. Monaghan, was taken from his home at 11 o'clock on Friday night by armed men. Subsequently he was found in a pool of blood, with a number of bullet wounds in his body. His condition is critical, according to a report which comes from General Military Headquarters.

OUTRAGE IN COUNTY MEATH.

EX-SOLDIER WOUNDED.

Another shooting affair in Meath is reported from Kilbarry, on the road from Navan to Nobber, says our Navan Correspondent in a telegram last night. A young man named F. Dooner was shot and wounded in two parts of the body. His wounds may not result fatally. It seems that Dooner, who is an ex-soldier, lived in a cottage by himself at Myles Cross, Kilbarry, three or four miles from Navan. His sister, who resides close by, called to see him this morning after Mass, and was surprised to find him lying in bed shot. He was conscious, and told her that at about 1 o'clock that morning a man came to the door, called him out, and about twelve yards up the road near the cross-roads shot him. He was wounded in the stomach, and on the top of the head. His assailant then left, and Dooner managed to get back to his cottage. His sister at once called in the local doctor, and the priest also arrived. Word was conveyed to the Navan police, and the ambulance was sent out. The military and police from Navan also arrived and investigated the affair, and got a description of Dooner's assailant. Dooner was conscious, and was conveyed to the County Meath Infirmary.

CAPTAIN PEEK'S FUNERAL.

The remains of Captain Sir William Peek, D.S.O., and Lieutenant Tennant, both of the 9th Lancers, were removed from the Upper Military Barracks, Longford, in the afternoon of Good Friday and conveyed to St. John's Church, where a Memorial Service, conducted by the Rector, Rev. Mr. Justice, took place in the presence of a large congregation. The coffins were draped with Union Jacks, and the funeral afterwards to the railway station was one of the most impressive spectacles witnessed in Longford for a long time. All the houses in the town were closed. The band of the 9th Lancers headed the procession. The officers of the regiment followed the tenders on which were the remains. Next came the cavalry, a detachment of the Auxiliary Police Force, a large body of Royal Irish Constabulary, under command of County Inspector Richardson and District Inspector Hawkins, and a strong party of the Comrades of the Great War, and large numbers of the townspeople. The remains were taken by the 3.36 p.m. train to Dublin, and from thence to England.

Captain Peek's service in the Army had almost expired, and, it is said, that he had made arrangements for a trip round the world. He was very popular in Strokestown while on detachment duty, and the inhabitants were much distressed on hearing of his death. Lieutenant Tennant had only reached his 22nd year. He was well known in Longford, and was highly esteemed, especially in sporting circles, where he made a host of friends. He took a great interest in coursing, and was a member and supporter of all the clubs in and around Longford.

It is stated that two arrests have been made in connection with the ambush.

Our Roscommon Correspondent states that since the ambush all the business houses in Strokestown have been closed by orders of the authorities. A house near where the attack took place has been destroyed.

AFTER THE AMBUSHES.

REPORTED REPRISALS.

SEVERAL HOUSES DESTROYED.

DUNGARVAN MARKET STOPPED.

Our Westport Correspondent, telegraphing on Saturday, says:—

From a quarter to 2 o'clock to 6.30 o'clock this morning Crown Forces were engaged in reprisals for the recent ambush near Carrowkennedy, eight miles from the town. Volleys of shots and bomb explosions alarmed the sleeping town. Going round Westport this morning I found that the private dwelling and drapery establishment of Mr. Charles Hughes, Chairman of the Westport Urban Council, were wrecked with bombs. The publichouse and grocery business of Mr Thadeus Walsh, Chairman Westport District Council, was wrecked and the goods in his shop destroyed. The dwellinghouse of Mr. John McDonagh, Upper High street, was burned. The publichouse of Mr. John McGreal, Upper Altamount street, was completely wrecked. The house of Mr. Patrick Kitterick, High street, Westport, was cleared of all the furniture, which was heaped on the street and then destroyed. Several windows in the town were smashed. Since Tuesday last, when the ambush took place, a large number of the people of the town were sleeping out of the town, and several persons took refuge in the Workhouse. At the scene of the ambush in the mountains near Carrowkennedy the publichouse of Mr. Darby Hastings has been burned. At Carrowbawn, adjoining the town, the house of Mr. Thomas Hoban, rate collector, was partly destroyed by fire. The haggard, car, and other outside effects were destroyed by fire at Mr. Mark Moore's in the same townland.

THE DUNGARVAN AMBUSH.

Writing on Saturday, our Dungarvan Correspondent states that a large number of Crown Forces left the town on Friday and drove into the country to where the ambush occurred recently. They were preceded by an armoured car. They went to Ballycoe House, the residence of Mrs. Dunlea, about one and a half miles from the town and half a mile from the place where the ambush took place. Having driven up the avenue, they halted before the door, and intimation was given to the occupants that the house and its contents were about to be destroyed. The occupants of the house were the two daughters of Mrs. Dunlea. The slates were removed and the rafters left bare. The furniture was broken, and the building is a complete wreck. The party of Crown Forces made a detour, and coming home by the Burgery, the scene of the ambush, demolished a farmhouse that lies by the roadside. This is owned by Mrs. Morrissey.

There was a large market in Dungarvan on Saturday, but at midday armed forces came on the street and notified the people that they must return to their homes within half an hour. The country people left the town immediately.

Our Correspondent adds that on Friday night Crown Forces demolished the furniture in the licensed premises of Miss English, Sexton street, Dungarvan.

LORD ASHTOWN'S PROPERTY DESTROYED.

Between October of last year and the 18th of this month 1,000 trees have been damaged or cut down on Lord Ashtown's estate, Ballymacarberry, Dungarvan district of Waterford, according to a report from Dublin Castle. The gate lodge and out-houses have also been destroyed.

LONDONDERRY RIOTS.

NEW MILITARY PROCLAMATION.

Colonel Commandant W. H. Allgood, C.M.G., D.S.O., Competent Military Authority for Londonderry, has issued a proclamation stating that it having come to the notice of the Competent Military Authority that proper attention is not being paid to the order to halt when challenged by Crown forces on duty, notice is again given that failure to do so is at such person or persons own peril, and if such disobedience continues it may become necessary to advance the hour of the "Curfew."

The proclamation also states that as certain ill-disposed person or persons fire on people in the streets, and also upon the military during such hours as the inhabitants are allowed out of doors, notice is given that the forces of the Crown have been ordered to return fire upon such evilly-disposed persons, and any person frequenting such streets or thoroughfares are consequently exposed to serious danger.

THE MOURNE ABBEY AMBUSH.

COURTMARTIAL TRIAL OF CORK CIVILIANS.

At Victoria Barracks, Cork, on Saturday, the trial was resumed of four civilians named Cornelius Mulcahy, Patrick Ronayne, and Michael and Thomas Creedon, who are charged (1) with having, on the 15th February, 1921, levied war against the King by attacking, with certain other persons, a detachment of military forces; and (2) with having been concerned with other persons in the preparation of an ambush.

Evidence for the prosecution was continued to the effect that Michael Creedon was admitted to the isolation ward of the Cork Military Hospital on the 18th February suffering from the effects of a shot-gun wound in the left shoulder and face.

Cross-examined—There were two other civilians admitted on 18th February. Five wounded Sinn Fein prisoners were admitted on 20th February.

Mr. Bourke, for Ronayne and Mulcahy, asked for a direction of acquittal on the ground that there had been no production of any proclamation or document showing what the jurisdiction of the Court might be.

Mr. McCarthy, on behalf of the Creedons, joined with Mr. Bourke in the point raised by him, and, secondly, on the ground that a prima facie case had not been established against his client.

The argument was over-ruled.

The accused Mulcahy was then examined. He swore that he was on his way home from Donoughmore with cattle, when he was surrounded by military, and had to take cover in a fence. He remained under cover from the shots until he was arrested. He was not a member of the Republican Army, the Volunteers, or Sinn Fein.

The case has not concluded.

THE MURDER OF MR. CATHCART.

FINDINGS OF MILITARY COURT.

On Friday a military inquiry was held regarding the death of Mr. John Cathcart, who was shot dead in his house early on Friday morning.

Miss Rita Cathcart (14), elder daughter of deceased, deposed that, on hearing shots, she ran into her grand-mother's room. Then there was dead silence, and she came out and called: "Daddy, Daddy." Getting no answer she ran downstairs, and found her father lying dead outside the bathroom door.

Head Constable Crowley deposed that in the place where the body had been lying he found an envelope (produced), on which was written the words: "Convicted spy; spies and informers beware. I.R.A."

The Court found that death was due to gunshot wounds, shock, and hemorrhage; that Mr. Cathcart met his death at the hands of some person or persons unknown, and that such person or persons were guilty of wilful murder.

GALWAY CIVILIAN'S DEATH.

SHOT WHILE ENDEAVOURING TO ESCAPE

A military inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, was held at Renmore Depôt, Galway, on Saturday regarding the death of Mr. Louis Darcy, of Claran, Headford, aged 24, who was shot dead while being conveyed from Oranmore to Galway on Thursday, March 24th.

A verdict was returned that Darcy, while trying to escape, met his death from gunshot wounds, the shots being fired by the police in the execution of their duty.

The remains were taken to Claran by the Headford 'bus on Friday afternoon for interment on Saturday. A large force of police and Auxiliaries left for the district on Saturday.

INCIDENTS IN THE PROVINCES.

The military authorities announce, by written notice at Bandon, that, if the destruction of road and rail communication continues, they will (1) prohibit the use of all bicycles, and (2) prohibit all fairs and markets.

Many roads in County Donegal are impassable, deep trenches having been dug in them. All day Saturday men were employed in extricating motor cars which had become caught in these trenches.

Michael Ryan and Peter Fox, shop assistants, Kilkenny, were arrested on Thursday, and taken to Woodstock. Two farmers' sons, named Byrne and Dunne, were also taken into custody.

The Sinn Fein Hall, Prospect Hill, Galway, unoccupied since last August, was burned to the ground on Friday night, nothing being left standing but the walls. It is the property of the Poor Clares Convent, and its walls contained some of the oldest carved and cut granite in the city.

Some hundreds of young men have been arrested and held at Ballyheigue Castle, County Kerry, evidently as a precaution against any outbreak during Easter week.

The Nenagh police during the week-end "commandeered" a number of bicycles in the town.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

"SHIMMY" DANCE BANNED.

Reuter's Paris Correspondent, telegraphing on Sunday, says:—At the Congress of Teachers of Dancing here to-day, the profession in London being represented, a long discussion took place on exotic innovations, and the professors decided to strike out the "shimmy," or "shudder," dance from their classes.

REPUBLICANISM IN AUSTRALIA.

In a message dated yesterday, The Times Correspondent at Melbourne states:—An attempt has been made in the Conference now sitting by the Victoria branch of the Labour Party to incorporate a Republican plank in the Labour platform, and give it priority over all others. The discussion was at times tempestuous. These meetings are held in secret, and the proposal had a number of supporters, but on a division it was defeated by what is officially declared to be a fair majority. The significance of the discussion lies in the fact that this is the first effort to secure a definite declaration in favour of Republicanism in Australia by the Labour movement, and to direct the Federal Party to give it effect. As a contrast a meeting was held to-day by the railwaymen to consider what action should be taken as a protest against the dismissal by the Victorian Government of two members of the Railway Union, who are reported to have moved and seconded a resolution expressing sympathy with the railway employés at Mallow, who were shot "by hired assassins of the British Government." A general strike had been threatened. The loyalists of the service declined to allow Irish affairs to be discussed at a meeting which had been organised for fighting purposes. The meeting wound up with an innocuous resolution on the paramount importance of the right of free speech.

DAME GENEVIEVE WARD.

The Times says that the King has conferred the Order of a Dame Commander of the British Empire on Miss Genevieve Ward, the actress, who celebrated the eighty-fourth anniversary of her birthday yesterday, in recognition of the distinguished position she has occupied for so long in her profession, and of the services rendered by her to dramatic art.

HOLIDAY MOTORING ACCIDENTS.

A number of fatal motor accidents has been reported during the week-end. Reginald E. Arrowsmith, aged 18, of Park road, Crouch End, London, died in Chelmsford Hospital, from injuries received on Friday, when the motor cycle on which he was riding crashed into a motor car belonging to Mr. Pettit, of High street, Lewisham, London. The motor car was overturned and Mr. Pettit and his wife thrown out. The former sustained a fractured shoulder. The driver of the motor cycle, Mr. J. P. Emons, of Muswell Hill, London, is in an hospital suffering with a fractured leg and arm and injuries to the head.

On Saturday morning John Edgar Bromley, a student, of Manchester University, who was driving a motor cycle and sidecar, collided with a large motor lorry near Kington, and died from the injuries he received.

Dr. Ernest Hasler Helby, Medical Officer of Dartmoor Prison, aged 51 years, received an extensive fracture of the skull through the breaking of a portion of his motor cycle while he was driving from Princetown to Tavistock. A verdict of accidental death was returned at the inquest on Saturday.

DISABLED OFFICERS' PENSIONS.

APPLICATION OF ALTERNATIVE SCHEME.

The Ministry of Pensions announce that disabled officers and nurses who intend to claim alternative retired pay or pension, based on pre-war earnings and present earning capacity, must prove their pre-war earnings before the 2nd July, 1921, or before a year has elapsed since the first award of disability retired pay or pension, whichever is the later date. Applications by widows of deceased officers for alternative pensions must be made before the 2nd July, 1921, or within a year of the date of first award of the flat rate pension.

Under the terms of the Royal Warrant a disabled officer is not eligible for alternative retired pay if his pre-war earnings did not exceed £132 a year, nor is a disabled nurse eligible for alternative pension if her pre-war earnings did not exceed £95 a year. In the case of officers' widows, there is no fixed limit. Applications and inquiries should be addressed to the Officers' Branch, Ministry of Pensions, Cromwell House Annexe, Millbank, London, S.W. 1.

LARGE INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS CLOSED.

HIGH COST OF LABOUR AND MATERIALS.

Messrs. Tilling and Stevens' motor factory, Maidstone, is temporarily closed. The firm, in a statement to its employés, explains that the only possible solution for the future of the factory is a reduction in the cost of labour and materials. It hopes to be able to re-engage all the skilled men at eighteen pence per hour and other classes at rates proportionately revised.

A serious prospect was presented on Saturday by the damping down of the furnaces at Stanton Ironworks, near Nottingham, one of the largest undertakings of the kind in the country. Over two thousand hands are temporarily thrown out of employment. The closing is due to trade depression.

FRENCH INTERVIEWER AND MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

Writing in the Paris Matin, M. Paul Loyson gives an account of an interview which he had with a person in close touch with Mr. Lloyd George and one of the latter's secretaries the day after the signing of the commercial treaty between Great Britain and Russia. In reply to one of his questions, M. Loyson says, he was informed that Mr. Lloyd George had done the impossible to bring about the trial of the German war criminals. M. Loyson's informants declared that the only preoccupation of Mr. Lloyd George was to set going again the wheels of industry throughout the world, adding that it was impossible to re-establish order in Russia without industry, that order was conducive to wealth, but that wealth was incompatible with a Soviet régime. The British, however, remained faithful to the principle of "self-determination." M. Loyson expressed surprise that Mr. Lloyd George had waited so long to break with "his worst enemies at home." Mr. Lloyd George, came the reply, hesitated right up to the last moment. Like M. Briand, he has kept in mind his democratic origin, and it is by virtue of this principle that he to-day raises his standard against the Labour Party, which desires to set up in these isles, a new privileged class, a new aristocracy of Englishmen. He concluded the interview by declaring that Mr. Lloyd George had never ceased to be France's best friend, and that he had no soft heart where the Bolshevists and the Germans were concerned.

TERRIBLE CONDITIONS IN NORTHERN PERSIA.

The Times Teheran Correspondent, telegraphing on March 23rd, says:—A winter of unparalleled severity and duration continues in Northern Persia. 1812 is the year which suggests itself to the traveller as he wends his way through the snow, past the bodies of camels and transport animals, the flesh of which has been torn from the carcasses, and eaten raw by starving Persians. Bodies of Persian muleteers are found frequently in the snow. Fortunately for the North Persian forces, the situation bears no resemblance to the flight of the Grand Armée in 1812. Pack animals ensure communications across the country. Mechanical transport has ceased, and the evacuation of the troops has necessarily been delayed for some weeks. Despite all precautions, the troops have suffered much from malignant frostbite.

A MARTYR TO SCIENCE.

X-Rays, says The Times Paris Correspondent, have claimed another victim. Dr. Adolphe Le Ray, head of the Radiographic Laboratory of St. Antoine, died yesterday (Saturday) from the evil effects of the rays. For months he had known that his end was inevitable, but he went on with his work until just before his death. He was engaged on research work, and he discovered the means for the prevention and cure of the very disease that killed him.

SHOP ASSISTANTS' CONFERENCE.

The Shop Assistants' Union Conference opened at Manchester on Saturday, when 126,810 members were represented. Mr. Neil Beaton, Edinburgh, in his presidential address, said that the Union would run its own Parliamentary candidates for the next General Election. The recent successes of the Labour Party were encouraging. He hoped that the working classes were at last realising the blunder made when the present Government was returned to power. The Labour Party alone had a policy to deal with the questions facing the country.

At Barnsley an inquest was held on Saturday on Fred. Waite (43), a miner. Evidence was given that he lost his life in preventing his fifteen year old son from being knocked down by tubs in a colliery. The boy failed to jump clear on hearing the warning from his father, who pushed his son out of danger, but was himself fatally crushed.

INCENDIARY FIRES NEAR LONDON.

SEVERAL OUTBREAKS ON FARMS.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE.

OUTBREAKS AROUND NEWCASTLE.

There were further outbreaks of incendiary fires in the London district during the week-end. On Friday night two wheat ricks were totally destroyed at Winches Farm, on the outskirts of St. Alban's, Herefordshire. The Fire Brigade attended, but were unable to save the corn. Another fire broke out half a mile away, and a hay rick was destroyed. An hour later a hay rick on a farm at Sandridge, near St. Alban's, was found to be on fire, and it was totally destroyed.

On Saturday night four large hay ricks on Branley's farm and two on Blake's farm, on the Enfield road, Hadley Wood, New Barnet, Hertfordshire, were destroyed by fire. The two farms are situated near one another on opposite sides of the main New Barnet-Enfield road. The fires broke out simultaneously. Near three of the stacks a quantity of oil was discovered. The efforts of the New Barnet and Enfield Fire Brigades were successful in preventing the flames from spreading to farm buildings.

POLICE PRECAUTIONS.

"Londoner," of the Evening Standard, understands that Scotland Yard has received information that attempts to cause further damage by fire may be made. Double police patrols, with motor cyclist members, are now watching the outer districts of London day and night.

MAN CHARGED WITH INCENDIARISM.

A man named Leonard Soutar, a cooper, of Tottenham, was charged before the North London magistrate on Saturday with maliciously setting fire to a straw stack valued at £120 in a field at Edmonton. A police constable said that he was with another policeman when they saw a straw rick about five hundred yards away on fire. They ran towards it, and hid in some trees. He saw a man running away from the fire, and they arrested him. The magistrate remanded the prisoner till Thursday, and directed that he be kept under medical observation.

Over twenty farm fires occurred simultaneously during Saturday night on farms in a wide area, which included Newcastle-on-Tyne, Wallsend, South Shields, Jarrow, Stanley, Consett, Ebchester, Chopwell, and the environs. Hay and corn stacks were fired, and, with a high wind and shortage of water, the firemen were compelled largely to devote themselves to saving adjoining property. Thousands of tons of valuable produce were destroyed. Paraffin in bottles, filled and empty, was discovered near the burnt stacks, and also a large knife. No arrests have been made. Thirty stacks of hay and corn were destroyed on six farms at Jarrow and three at Wallsend. The damage amounts to several thousand pounds.

In the Jarrow area on Saturday night the police detained several young Irishmen on suspicion, and another man was detained at South Shields.

A policeman who was patrolling one of the farms received a severe blow from an unknown assailant, and was rendered unconscious. Stacks were afterwards fired on the farm, and a newspaper saturated with oil was found.

REPUBLICAN FUNERAL IN CORK.

Telegraphing last night, our Cork Correspondent states:—There were remarkable scenes in Cork to-day in connection with the funeral of six young men, members of the Irish Republican Army, who were killed in the conflict with Crown forces at Clogheen, County Cork, on Wednesday morning. The remains were handed over by the military, and lay in the mortuary chapel of the Cork Roman Catholic Cathedral. At the request of the Cork Corporation, medical practitioners in Cork last evening made a post-mortem examination of the bodies, and they will report to Mr. Egan, Deputy Lord Mayor. The funeral of the six victims started for the Republican plot in St. Finbar's Cemetery at two o'clock, when the police and military arrangements to limit the attendance at each funeral to forty persons were strictly enforced, but a concourse of some thousands followed upon the footpaths. At the head of the procession there were two armoured cars and lorries full of soldiers. Canon O'Sullivan, Administrator, and about thirty other clergymen officiated. Each of the coffins was enshrouded in the Republican flag, and was borne behind the hearse on the shoulders of four Republicans. The chief mourners followed in carriages. When the cortège, which was about a mile in length, passed through the centre of the city and had reached the Western road it was stopped by a party of one hundred military and police, and the big crowd following on the sidewalks was checked. Many people were searched. The Crown forces continued in attendance to the cemetery gate, and there was much excitement, but everything passed off quietly. Prior to the funeral the military served notice on Canon O'Sullivan, stating that the public would not be allowed to march in military formation or to carry out any military exercises. No demonstrations of a kind likely to cause a disturbance would be allowed, no Republican flags or I.R.A. badges would be allowed, and the Republican flag would not be permitted on the coffins. Despite the latter order the coffins were draped with the Republican flag.

FUNERAL OF MR. THOMAS HODGETT.

Yesterday the funeral of Mr. Thomas Hodgett, Postmaster of Navan, whose body, with a bullet wound in it, was found in the River Boyne five weeks after he had been taken from his home by armed men, was of imposing dimensions, and the little cemetery in Navan was unable to accommodate the big gathering of people. All classes were represented. After the hearse a contingent of postal workers, numbering 100, marched four deep. They came from every town in Meath. After a short Service in the parish church, the remains were interred in the burial ground adjoining, the Rector, the Rev. G. R. L. Wynne, officiating. The chief mourners were:—Samuel, James, and Richard Hodgett (brothers), Mrs. Hodgett (widow), Henry and Frederick Hodgett (sons), Miss Hodgett (daughter), Mr. Murphy and Mr. Robert Turner, Dublin (brothers-in-law), Richard and Samuel Hodgett (nephews), Mr. Isaac Reid (cousin).

BELGIAN SOCIALISTS AND PEACE.

Reuter's Antwerp Correspondent, telegraphing on Saturday, says:—The Belgian Socialist Party Congress adopted a resolution expressing a desire to see the question of indemnities settled in a strictly equitable spirit, without evasion on the part of Germany, and with scrupulous respect for justice on the part of the Allies. The resolution demands the resumption, as soon as possible, of the negotiations which were broken off in London, and instructs the General Council of the Congress to endeavour to continue direct negotiations between the Labour bodies of Germany and the Allied countries until a common programme has been drafted, which all branches of the international proletariat will undertake to defend by every means, so that a secure peace may be restored, based upon an understanding between the nations.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS CONFERENCE.

To-night at the Royal Palace, says a Madrid telegram, dated Saturday, a reception was held in honour of the delegates to the League of Nations Conference on Communications and Transit, which has been sitting at Barcelona. The King, the members of the Royal Family, and several Ministers were present.

MR. DEVLIN AND THE ULSTER PARLIAMENT.

A POLICY OF OBSTRUCTION.

Mr. Joseph Devlin, M.P., in opening a Hibernian Hall at Ballycran, near Kirkcubbin, County Down, on Sunday, said that, so far as the Southern Parliament was concerned, they might count it out. It would never function. The people would have nothing to do with it. The Ulster Parliament was not the Parliament of a nation, and not the Parliament of a province. It was a Parliament of a section of a portion of a province. The Government was imposing upon Ireland a simulacrum of a Constitution, which gave no freedom, divided the people, and left things fifty times worse than they were before. The Ulster Parliament would be smaller than a town council, and would be merely a family party of "profiteers," puppets, and placemen. It was no solution of the problem, but a scheme that insulted their nationality and their intelligence. The highest service to render to Ireland would be to make it impossible. Continuing, Mr. Devlin said—You and I must contribute our share in bringing it to a termination at the earliest possible moment. He added that a thing could not endure which had not the moral sanction of the people behind it, and he prophesied that it would come to an end within a very short period.

ULSTER EX-SERVICE MEN AND REPRESENTATION.

At the annual meeting of the North Irish Grand Council of the Comrades of the Great War in Derry on Saturday, a discussion took place on a resolution from the County Down Division, to the effect that the Association should approach the Ulster Unionist Council with a view to hearing their opinions on the ex-Service men's position under the new Parliament.

The Secretary (Mr. R. Weir) said that this question was before the Executive Committee, and they appointed a provisional deputation to approach the Council on the question of defining a policy regarding ex-Service men. Brigadier-General Ricardo, to whom he had written, replied stating that he would like to see the actual questions it was proposed to submit to Sir James Craig. General Ricardo added that he was not taking exception to the proposal, but the deputation must very clearly understand that Sir James Craig would not be in a position to define his policy on any subject until things had advanced a little bit further, and he had got some idea what colleagues he was going to work with. He thought that it would be quite in order if the Comrades defined certain points that, in their opinion, required attending to for the benefit of the ex-soldiers.

It was suggested that the Comrades should run an ex-Service men's candidate in Belfast, but several Comrades expressed disapproval of this course.

Captain J. M. Walton said that this was a matter which would require very delicate handling. If they acted in opposition to the large political organisations, they would probably alienate the sympathy of almost every one.

It was decided to refer the safeguarding of ex-Service men's interests to the Executive Committee.

A SINN FEIN-NATIONALIST AGREEMENT.

Our Strabane Correspondent states:—It is confirmed that an agreement has been reached between the Sinn Fein and Constitutional Nationalists in the six Ulster counties to contest every seat. Strabane and district farmers are putting forward a prominent local gentleman, who fought in the late war, as their candidate for the Ulster Parliament. Strabane Labour is also contesting the seat.

BELFAST COLLEGE SEARCHED BY MILITARY.

Military and police searched St. Malachy's College, Antrim road, Belfast, on Friday night during "Curfew" hours. All the rooms in the college were visited. The military left shortly afterwards.

FUNERAL OF BELFAST RIOT VICTIM.

MILITARY PRECAUTIONS AGAINST DISTURBANCES.

Impressive scenes were witnessed at the funeral in Belfast on Saturday of Mrs. Jamieson, of Moffatt street, a victim of the recent rioting in the York street district. Big forces of police were present to keep order, and these were placed at points where the rowdy element might possibly come into touch with the mourners. This prevented a repetition of the disgraceful scenes which occurred at the funeral of the last victim of the recent riots, when revolver shots were fired. Two armoured cars patrolled the district, and one of them went through the disturbed area accompanying the hearse. At least five thousand people must have taken part in the funeral cortège. Shipyard workers carried the remains behind the hearse.

BELFAST ASSIZES.

SOLDIER'S WIDOW AND BELFAST CORPORATION.

At the Belfast Assizes on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Dodd, an action was brought against the Belfast Corporation in respect of the half-pay allowance to an employé who joined the Army during the war and was killed on active service. The plaintiffs were Sarah Wilson, 55 Teutonic street, and James Wilson, an "infant," who sued the City Council for £89 8s., being half-wages due to James Wilson from 1st June, 1915, to 29th March, 1918, while deceased had been serving with His Majesty's forces.

His Lordship said that the questions he would put to the jury were:—Was it fairly within the contemplation of the Corporation that their inducement to join the forces should extend to persons who might enter their employment after the resolution offering half-wages to recruits, or only to those who were in their employment before 5th August, 1914? and, did Wilson join the forces on the faith of the said inducement? The latter was a very important question. The final question left by his lordship to the jury was—Did Wilson, in the knowledge of the defendants, leave his employment in the Corporation in order to join His Majesty's forces on the understanding that the Corporation should pay his half-wages during his service with the forces; and did the Corporation first induce or permit or sanction his so acting.

A verdict was found in favour of the plaintiff, damages being awarded of £89 8s. 6d., one-third to the widow and two-thirds to the child of deceased.

Judgment for the amount, and on the application of Mr. Andrews a stay of execution was granted.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

EXPORT OF LIVE STOCK FROM DUBLIN SUSPENDED.

A telegram was received by the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland on the 26th inst. from the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries, London, to the effect that a suspected case of foot-and-mouth disease in an animal shipped from Dublin was discovered at Birkenhead, and requesting that until further notice all shipments of animals from Dublin to any British port be suspended. A superintending veterinary inspector has gone to Birkenhead, and steps are being taken to trace the origin of the reported animal.

THE MATER ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.

The Mater orchestral concerts were resumed on Sunday afternoon at La Scala Theatre before a very large audience. The feature of the programme was the violin playing of Mr. Arthur Darley. Whether in the Irish airs, which he plays with a peculiar life, insight, and intensity; the contemplative Schumann "Garden Melody," or the rhythm and curious technical brilliance of "The Queen's Tambourine" (Moffat), his tone was characterised by clarity and finish. His slight harmonies were of exquisite surety, and his treatment of a simple Irish air through variations showed a fine sense of perspective. In this air one noticed the helpful piano accompaniment by Miss Lucy Leenane, who had also been invaluable through the Robert O'Dwyer arrangements for piano and violin. Her staccato was of just the right poise.

Of the orchestral works, the Tannhauser Overture was the best given. Mr. Vincent O'Brien graded this cleverly, and his treatment of the tumultuous undercurrent to the Pilgrim Hymn, typifying the struggle between good and evil in the music drama, was especially to be commended. The "Silver Trumpets" Papal March (Viviani) included the "Harmony in the Dome," nicely suggested by cornets heard "off," but little else of musical value.

The Feis Ceoil Prize "Overture" (Brendan Rogers), conducted by the composer, impressed one by its scholarly blending of harmony and management of theme. The beautiful close was not heard at its best, as horns hardly ever come up to what is expected of them; still the imagination and music were suggested.

The singers were Miss May Lafferty and Mr. Foster Richardson. Miss Lafferty's best song was "Softly awakes my heart" (Saint Saëns), where the beautiful orchestral accompaniment, especially the harp suggestion by the 'cellos, and the higher vocal notes, made a fine emotional appeal. Miss Lafferty's mezzo singing is of great promise.

Mr. Foster Richardson repeated the success of his previous visit. His songs were "Arm, Arm, Ye Brave" (Handel); "I Triumph, I Triumph" (Carissimmé), and "She is far from the land" (Lambert). He sang many encores also, and his fine bass sounding was at its best in the more dramatic songs.

Best Irish Result. 14 of the 17 Students sent forward were successful.—(Advt.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE TUDOR-CROZIER INCIDENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It has been brought to my notice that it is generally understood that I published correspondence in the Press relative to my resignation. This misunderstanding arises from a statement in the House by the Chief Secretary. I denied it in The Times; I deny it again now. A friend of mine, a Coalition-Unionist M.P., placed before the Chief Secretary on February 22nd facts and correspondence and my address in London, at my request. The Chief Secretary complained that I did not ask to see him; it was not my place to do so. If he had wanted to see me, he could have done so. I had nothing to do with the "Patria" letter. Facts and dates cannot be altered. My letter to General Tudor, dated February 18th, and General Tudor's letter to me, from the boat, dated February 14th, were published after February 22nd. I forget on which date. The issue was entirely false.—Yours, etc.,

F. P. CROZIER, Brigadier-General.

Dublin, March 26th, 1921.

CHRIST'S EXAMPLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It is extraordinary how often people are misled by those who quote Scripture from a one-sided point of view—i.e., for the purpose of supporting something that they themselves advocate, whether it be excellent or otherwise. And this is generally done without even an attempt being made to explain the real sense or meaning of the passage quoted, which is perfectly correct as Christ spoke it, but may not apply at all in the sense in which it is desired to make use of the quotation.

"A.S.B." in his letter in to-day's Irish Times uses the quotation—"Put up thy sword into the sheath. The cup which my Father hath given me, shall I not drink it?" "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

The words are clearly used in connection with the immediate events in relation to which they were spoken—i.e., those who take the sword to prevent the will of God being accomplished are likely to perish by the sword.

Our Lord was accomplishing the will of God in offering Himself as a sacrifice for our sins. And as Peter took the sword to prevent it, though quite a natural thing for an impulsive nature like Peter's to attempt to do, yet it was certain to fail when contrary to God's will. But the words, "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword," do not apply to those who do not desire to take the sword, but are driven to use it to defend themselves against the attacks of murderers, who are not accomplishing the will of God. Indeed, the very opposite words of our Lord then apply—i.e., "He that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one."

It is necessary, or may become necessary, to do this when we have to defend ourselves against those who reckon Christ "among the transgressors." This applies to-day in the case of anti-Christian revolutionary attacks. For it has been plainly shown in Russia and elsewhere that Christians can expect no mercy from such, who, through not only rejecting Christ, but, accounting the sinless Son of God a transgressor, are learning how to become children of the devil, instead of sons of God.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN S. SWITZER.

EASTER DAY SERVICES.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.

The Easter Day Services in the various Protestant churches in Dublin yesterday were highly impressive, and the congregations were large, a great many participating in the celebration of Holy Communion. In many of the churches the decorations were of a pleasing and artistic character.

The preacher at the eleven o'clock Service in Christ Church Cathedral was the Archbishop of Dublin, who spoke from the text—"I am He that liveth and was dead, and behold I am live for evermore" (Rev., i., 18). He pointed out that on Friday last they observed in the Cross a witness to the abiding faithfulness of God. The Cross showed that God accepted responsibility for the world which He had made, and Himself intervened to bear the burden. God Himself in the person of His only begotten Son suffered upon the Cross, and thus the Cross assured them of sympathy and the faithfulness of God; but their hearts wanted something more than sympathy and the assurance of faithfulness. Their hearts wanted security; they wanted success. When they asked themselves certain questions on that, they got the answer in the Resurrection, or rather the risen Christ. Easter Day told them not of a thing, but of a Person. God's way of intervening in this world of sin and trouble was by a Person, and the plan mapped out for that Person concluded the way of death. But the Person thus sent was one whom death could not hold dead. The prime characteristic of His Being was the exact opposite. His own description of Himself was: "I am the Resurrection, I am the Life." What Easter Day told them was that God was not sent too late, that God could not send help that was not strong enough. They needed to school themselves to realise that the risen Christ was a living force in our world to-day just as real as in Palestine long ago, and yet infinitely more powerful. Christ was a vital personal force standing in intimate relations with the souls that loved Him and quickening them into life on their smaller scale. Look at the world to-day, continued His Grace; look at Europe, look at Ireland. Who can foresee the future? Seething unrest, social upheaval, violence abroad, violence in our own land. These seem to be taking the place of the old-established securities, and yet have we faith in the Resurrection? Why, we say to ourselves, "Christ is King; He cannot be dethroned, He cannot be left out, He must expand." We have men trying to settle the world in their own way, and Christ gives them room to make their experiment, and to learn, perhaps by bitter experience, that there can be no settlement which ignores Christ. There are great movements in the world, maybe they will be greater, but the Church of Christ possesses the one solid security in the midst of the general flux. It possesses Christ, and it must see to it that it makes terms with no way of thinking that denies Christ's laws. Standing with Christ the Church lights the world, and it need fear no social change as permanent that is based upon unrighteous principles. For the risen Christ, righteous and true, is found, and is ultimately the dominant factor among nations as among men. No supposed national exigency can justify a breach of the law of Christ; no patriotism is true patriotism that sets nationality before Christ; no policy will have enduring success that has not reckoned with the eternal righteousness. Happen what may, the Christian Church knows that, though for a time evil, and sickening evil, will prevail, it is but for a time. Christ is the prevailing force in the world, and through Him all things must at last adjust themselves. "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." I pray you in this day of anxious perplexity hold the Easter faith fast. Christ is King. The keys are in His hand. He opens and no man shuts. Christ shuts and no man can open.

THE ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

A meeting of the Council of the Royal Dublin Society was held at Leinster House on Thursday, Professor John Joly, F.R.S., F.T.C.D., Vice-President, in the chair. There were also present:—Professor J. Mallet Purser, M.D., Vice-President; Bertram H. Barton, D.L., Hon. Secretary; Edgar Anderson, M.A.; S. W. Maddock, D.L.; the Rev. Canon R. B. Stoney, D.D.; Captain J. H. Greer, D.L.; Major R. W. Doyne, D.L.; Marcus Goodbody, J.P.; Harry Franks, J.P.; Denis R. Pack Beresford, D.L.; R. F. Scharff, B.Sc.; John Mooney, D.L., C.V.O.; Professor James Wilson, M.A.; Professor H. J. Moran, Assistant Secretary.

The recommendation of the Committee of Agriculture—that the dates for the coming Agricultural Show be altered to the 7th, 8th, and 9th June—was approved.

Professor Hugh Ryan was unanimously appointed to fill the vacancy among the representatives nominated by the Royal Dublin Society on the Advisory Council of the Royal Veterinary College of Ireland.

Letters were read from Ernest Cameron, Professor Joly, Richard J. Moss, the Royal Irish Academy of Music, and the Women's National Health Association.

CRUELTY IN THE EXPORT OF ANIMALS.

ULSTER SOCIETY AND THE CANADIAN CATTLE EMBARGO.

The following resolution was passed by the Council of the Ulster Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at their meeting on the 21st inst., Sir Robert Kennedy, K.C.M.G., presiding:—

"That in view of the appalling cruelty involved in the transit of live animals by sea, as revealed by the minutes of the evidence taken before the Board of Agriculture, and presented to both Houses of Parliament in 1894, the Ulster Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals urges, in the most earnest manner, the necessity for the continuation of the embargo upon the importation of Canadian cattle as being absolutely necessary from a humane point of view, and earnestly requests the Government to maintain the existing restrictions on the importation of live animals from abroad, without discrimination between one country and another. This Society further resolves that, in their opinion, the time has come when the Government should prohibit the import and export of live animals into or from any port in the United Kingdom, except by special permit and for special purposes. That the animals should be represented by at least three members, specially appointed under the Royal Commission dealing with this matter, and respectfully suggests the names of Lord Lambourne, Sir John Butcher, and Colonel Burn, or other gentlemen, to act in this capacity."

SOCIAL JOTTINGS AT PHŒNIX PARK RACES.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

After the wet and cold of the previous day, there was much anxiety on Saturday morning as to what the weather would be like in the afternoon, when the March Meeting on the Phœnix Park Club course would provide the only popular amusement of the week, and though the afternoon did not fulfil the early forecast, still there was not much cause for grumbling. The few cold showers which alternated with the spells of sunshine were but a hint of what April probably has in store for us later on, and certainly did not interfere with the attendance, which was on the large side, particularly in the grand stand enclosure, where there was a great crowd. The motor cars drawn up closely in lines in the carriage enclosure indicated that many members and their friends were present. Except in the vivid green of the sward, the approach of spring was not very apparent in the Club ground, though the picturesquely planned rock gardens gave much promise of beauty later on, and a group of bamboos supplied a patch of lovely young foliage at the back of the Stewards' stand.

The cold sting in the wind influenced the display of fashion, fur coats and warm wraps being very generally worn, with the result that most of the ladies' costumes were concealed. The general effect was, however, both cosy and becoming, and many bright-coloured hats introduced a gay touch that enlivened the scene.

Among those present were the Earl of Kenmare, Lady Powerscourt, who has just returned from a tour in Italy; Lady Eva Forbes, accompanied by Mrs. Chandos Leigh; Mr. and Lady Mary Corbally, General Sir Bryan and Lady Mahon, Hon. Mrs. Dewhurst and Miss Woods, the Earl of Wilton, Lord HolmPatrick, and Hon. Sybil Hamilton. Sir John and Lady Arnott, who are just back from Melton Mowbray, where they spent the hunting season, entertained a number of guests at tea on their private stand. Captain and Mrs. Wyndham Quin came over from the Private Secretary's Lodge, and were accompanied by Miss Wyndham Quin. Sir Michael and Lady O'Loghlen motored in from Dundrum, where they are staying with Sir Michael Murphy.

There were also present the Hon. Mrs. Baring, Sir William Goulding, who was one of the Stewards of the meeting; Mr. and Lady Rachel Sturgis, General and Mrs. Waldron, Lady Myles and Miss Challoner Knox, Colonel and Mrs. Bent, Sir Andrew Horne, Mr. and Miss McNeile, Captain Arnott, Colonel Clarke, Lady Chance, Mr. J. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barker, Captain and Mrs. Lingard Goulding, Major O'Malley Keyes, Colonel and Mrs. Craster, Lady Lumsden, Miss Miller, Mr. and Miss Jameson Lady and Miss McGrath, Mr. Parkinson, Mr. E. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peard, Mr. H. Peard, the Misses O'Connor, Colonel and Mrs. Fowle, Mr. Hunt, Mr. Walker, Captain Knox, Mr. Pack Beresford, Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Croker, Mr. Maxwell Arnott, Major and Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Earle, Mr. J. Vernon, the Misses McGuinness, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. McCann, Mr. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. McMurray, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maher, Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. Baldwin, Miss Hume, Captain Bernard Daly, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Dickie, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, Mr. Callaghan, Mrs. and Miss Cassidy, Mr. West, Mr. Wallis, Mr. Sandys, etc.

DUBLIN-BUILT STEAMER LAUNCHED.

A new vessel, the Mascot, to the order of the A/S Nordsjon, Christiania, was launched from the Dublin Dockyard Company's premises, North Wall, on Saturday. The vessel, which is intended for the timber trade, and has been constructed to meet Norwegian regulations, is 278 feet long, and has a dead-weight capacity of 3,050 tons. The holds are arranged for the stowage of bulky cargo, and the pillars have been incorporated in the design to give a clear space. Cargo-handling appliances are very complete, consisting of six derricks feeding four large hatchways, the winches being placed on the poop bridge and forecastle decks, leaving wells free for stowage of timber on deck and for other deck cargoes. The usual lashing and deck appliances are fitted for the safe stowage of timber, in compliance with Norwegian sea control requirements, to obtain special Wood Freeboard Deck Cargo Certificate. The accommodation for officers and engineers is provided in large deck-houses on the bridge, while the crew are berthed in two berth cabins in the poop. The vessel is installed throughout with electric light, and has also Marconi equipment. The Mascot will be towed to Greenock, where a set of triple expansion engines, supplied by steam from two large single-ended boilers working at 180lbs. pressure, will be installed by Messrs. Rankin and Blackmore, Ltd.

The owners were represented at the launch by Mr. Christie, of the firm of Messrs. Arnesen, Christensen, and Smith, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

A Berlin telegram, dated Wednesday, states that on account of the murder of several employés of the Inter-Allied High Commission in Karf, Silesia, the District Governor of Beuthan has ordered very strict police measures to be taken.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED IRREGULAR.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, SATURDAY.

Stocks have been irregular, and declined under profit-taking and bear selling of shippings, leathers, and mail order issues; then rallied on pool buying of low-priced oils and motors. Another partial decline, however, followed on selling of copper concerns. It is reported that mines are closing for the formation of a stockholders' committee to investigate the management of the American Smelting and Refining Company. The market closed irregular.

The earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending March 21st—$3,211,000—showed a decrease of $72,000, and not an increase, as previously reported, as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

CHICAGO, SATURDAY.

WHEAT opened easy at ½c. to ¾c. decline, and further receded on an expected bearish Bureau report next month, favourable South-West crop reports, and sales to realise; then rallied under export buying at New York for Greece and the strength of cash in the North-West. Larger country offerings, however, led to liquidation, and the market closed easy, ½c. up to ½c. down. Spot steady. No. 2 hard winter, spot, 157; No. 3 hard winter, spot, nominal. March, 153½; May, 141½.

CORN opened easy, ½c. to ¾c. lower, on slow cash trading, realising, and selling by cash houses. After a rally in wheat and on bull support and commission house buying, the market again receded owing to the reaction in wheat and realising. The market closed barely steady at ⅛c. to ½c. fall. No. 2 mixed, spot, nominal; May, 63½; July, 67½; September, 68½.

OATS irregular, ½c. higher to ½c. lower; May, 40½; July, 41½; September, 42.

PROVISIONS opened steady, and rose on firm hog and grain markets, light receipts, and buying by commission houses and grain people. Realising, however, caused a barely steady close, with lard 2½, pork 17½, and ribs 5 points down. Lard—May, 11.58½; July, 11.92½. Pork—May, 20.22½. Ribs—May, 11.20; July, 11.55.

BACON easy at 25 points fall.

ART UNION DRAWING.

On Tuesday last the drawing of the Art Union tickets took place at 35 Dawson street, Dublin. Mr. V. A. Montgomery presided, and Mr. Walter Strickland and Major French drew the numbers. There were eight prizes, and a picture was won by each of the following:—Messrs. R. Dames Longworth, Herbert street (two); V. A. Montgomery, St. Mary's Abbey, Trim; Charles Martin, 12 Fitzwilliam place; H. Mangin; Mrs. Pallin, Foxrock; Mr. R. H. Smith, Highfield road; and Mr. Rooney. The pictures are to be selected in the exhibition by the prize-winners.

The exhibition will be open to-day and to-morrow between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5.30 p.m.

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

The Archbishop of Dublin has arranged to institute the Rev. E. L. B. Barker, M.A., to the incumbency of the Parish of Celbridge on Friday next at a special Service to be held in the parish church at 3.45 p.m.

A United Service of Intercession for Foreign Missions will be held in Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, on Tuesday, April 12th, at 11.30 a.m., at which a sermon will be preached by the Rev. J. C. Forrester, M.A., who has recently returned from Hazaribagh.

The Rev. Archibald de Montfort, B.A., rector of Drimoleague, has been elected by the Board of Nomination to the incumbency of Castletownroche, Diocese of Cloyne.

The Rev. R. J. Campion, B.A., curate of Askeaton and Shanagolden, has been appointed by the Dean of Limerick to be vicar-choral and curate of St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, in succession to the Rev. Oswald H. Brasier, M.A., who has removed to England.

EUROPEAN CHAPLAINCIES.

Nearly 300 chaplaincies, including 56 churches, in Greater Europe are now under the patronage of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. Fifteen are permanent, and the rest are seasonal. Nearly all were closed during the war. So far, only the permanent and about 15 summer and 18 winter churches have been re-opened. Being so long in disuse, they have become dilapidated, and funds are needed to put them in repair. The Crimea Memorial Church at Constantinople, built by the Society in 1868, is appealing for funds for a memorial in the church for all who fell at Gallipoli, and for the endowment of the chaplaincy.

ADELAIDE HOSPITAL HALF-CROWN FUND.

The Matron of the Adelaide Hospital has received 2½s. from anonymous donors who describe themselves as the "Hungry Dogs." The contribution is gratefully acknowledged.

LEINSTER SENIOR CUP—SEMI-FINALS.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE (16) v. CLONTARF (0).

Despite the unfavourable weather (it was a cold and cheerless afternoon) and the counter attraction of the Phœnix Park Races, the semi-finals of the Leinster Senior Cup competition attracted a very large gathering to Lansdowne road on Saturday. Two games were played, and if neither was productive of anything of an outstanding nature, they were, nevertheless, interesting, and played at a fast pace throughout. The first match was between University College and Clontarf, and after a scoreless first half the students eventually ran out rather easy winners by 2 goals and 2 tries (16 points) to nil. The second game of the afternoon found Dublin University, after a hard struggle, qualifying for the final by defeating the Army Cup winners, 2nd Royal Welch Regiment, by 1 goal and 2 tries (11 points) to 1 dropped goal (4 points). Rain was falling slightly when University College and Clontarf took the field. The following were the teams:—

Clontarf—C. L. Jackson; W. L. Freeman, John Bell, J. Hopkins, H. Martin; J. J. Booth, R. Colin; H. Bell, T. Bell, W. S. Corrigan, J. S. Lewis, J. Quail, J. B. Stokes, G. R. Thompson, J. A. Watts.

University College—S. Hogan; F. Russell, V. Coughlan, D. Sullivan, J. Silke; P. McGowan, B. O'Connor; A. Courtney, J. Coughlan, W. Cussen, C. Godfrey, G. Moore, N. Matthews, J. McCarthy, A. Spain.

Referee—Mr. J. J. Rowland.

Clontarf won the toss, and took advantage of a rather strong wind blowing from the Havelock square end. They had the better of the opening play, which was principally between midfield and the College quarter flag. Thompson, T. Bell, and Corrigan were the first to be prominent for Clontarf, and then Colin, from a scrum at the National 25, put his line moving. Freeman passed to John Bell, who had a short run before cross-kicking, but the ball rolled into touch about ten yards outside the College line. Courtney, Moore, and Matthews led the University forwards in a dash back to centre. Here McGowan put his backs on the move, and the bout looked promising, when V. Coughlan knocked on at the centre. Passing by the Clontarf backs found Hopkins kicking well ahead, and with Russell tackled in possession the play was left at the College line. Clontarf now pressed strongly, but the Students' defence was very sound, and at length the forwards, following up a kick by O'Connor, took play to the centre. Clontarf were soon back, however, H. Bell, Thompson, and Corrigan once again bringing play inside the National quarter line. A great forward rush, in which Courtney, J. Coughlan, and Matthews were prominent, took the College for the first time into the Clontarf half. Here the 'Varsity backs had a bout of passing, and, after Sullivan had handled, Coughlan got in a neat kick to touch at the Clontarf 25. An injury to Hopkins at this stage necessitated that player's retirement, and Freeman went centre, while Quail came out of the pack to fill Freeman's place on the wing. The next item of note was a strong run and cross kick by Sullivan, but John Bell marked, and his kick got touch at centre. Passing by the 'Varsity backs found Silke racing away, but after he had beaten Jackson, Freeman came across, and brought him down. Another bout of passing by the National backs found Coughlan, Sullivan, and Russell all handling, and after a good run the latter was tackled by Jackson. From the ensuing scrum the ball was dribbled across the Clontarf line, but in a race between McGowan and Jackson the latter just managed to kick dead. From this to the interval both sides attacked in turn.

On changing ends the Students at once went to the attack, and from a scrum near the line McGowan dashed over for a try at the corner, but J. Coughlan's kick went wide. The wind, if anything, had increased, and with rain falling in torrents the play became very scrappy. National still kept up the pressure, and with Jackson tackled in possession, play was on the Clontarf line. John Bell eased the pressure, and later Thompson was to the fore, but Courtney and then Sullivan were instrumental in placing University once more on the aggressive. The defence of Clontarf proved very sound, and eventually Corrigan and Thompson dribbled out of danger. From a passing movement John Bell got possession, and, kicking ahead, followed up to tackle Hogan before he could reply. The Clontarf attack was only temporary as Courtney led a rush of his front rank back to centre. From here Moore dribbled to the Clontarf 25, and after a short bout of passing by the 'Varsity backs, McGowan had a dash for the line, but was held up. A minute later, however, the ball went loose, and Matthews, gathering, scored between the posts, but J. Coughlan again failed to goal. Clontarf attacked in the ensuing play, Thompson, Corrigan, and Watts leading a rush of the forwards almost to the College line. Silke, however, pulled them up, and from a mark transferred play back to centre. Here the Clontarf backs got moving, but Sullivan, intercepting, broke away, and, drawing Jackson, sent Silke over for a clever try, to which Cussen added the extra points. National were now having much the better of matters, and Moore, after a splendid dribble from the centre, reached the line to score another fine try, which Cussen again converted.

Though well deserving to win, it must be said that the margin of sixteen points is rather flattering to University College, and, if Clontarf had scored on a couple of occasions, it would have been nothing more than they deserved. The strong wind had a very detrimental effect on the play, which possessed nothing of a high-class nature. Clontarf played a hard, bustling game from start to finish, but though holding their own in the loose, the forwards were beaten for possession, and even when they did heel were not quick enough, and consequently Colin got little chance of opening up the game. The College, while not giving as convincing a display as against Wanderers, never looked like losing, and their backs had many nice rounds of passing. Hogan, who deputised for Donovan in the last line of defence for the winners, was sound, and if his kicking was often lacking in length, he tackled soundly. Sullivan again stood out as the best of the University three-quarters. He kicked and tackled finely, and made many openings for his wing man. Silke had many strong runs, while Russell and V. Coughlan also did well. M'Gowan worked the scrum splendidly, and was well partnered by O'Connor. The forwards all worked hard, and in singling out Courtney, Matthews, and Moore as the best, J. Coughlan and M'Carthy were not far behind. On the Clontarf side, Jackson was moderate at full; Freeman was best in the three-quarter line. Colin played pluckily at the base of the scrum, while forward Thompson, Corrigan, and H. Bell were best. Result:—

University College—2 goals, 2 tries (16 points).
Clontarf—Nil.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY (11) v. 2nd WELCH REGIMENT (4).

The wind was blowing stronger when the second match was started, and, after another moderate game due to the prevailing condition Trinity qualified for the final by a goal and 2 tries to a dropped goal. Teams:—

Dublin University—R. W. Power; D. Cussen, W. O'Donel, A. Troughton, W. Sinclair; D. J. Malan, J. F. Stewart; R. Y. Crichton, J. Van Druten, R. H. Owens, E. E. Rollins, C. E. Strong, J. C. Dowse, J. D. Leahy, J. Speedy.

2nd Welch Regiment—Private Payne; Captain Gransmore, Sergeant Benyon, Captain Daniel, Lance-Corporal Jones; Lieutenant Phillips, Private Morgan; Captain Dunn, C.S.M. Jones, Lieutenant Price, Sergeant-Driver Payne, Lance-Corporal Lewis, Lieutenant Lane, Private Meakin, Private Lawler.

Referee—Mr. J. G. Aston.

Trinity played Dowse, Leahy, and Speedy in the pack instead of Smith, Gillespie and McCormick, who were injured, while the Welch from the side that was successful on Wednesday in the final of the Army Cup, played Lance-Corporal Jones on the wing vice Lieutenant R. C. Lindsay-Brabazon. Trinity had the assistance of the wind in the first half, and were pressing most of the time, but the wind interfered considerably with accurate back play, many passes being either dropped or knocked on. In the second half the Welsh were mostly in the Trinity 25, but failed to cross the line, the only score being a very clever dropped goal by Phillips. Trinity mainly owed the victory to the superiority of their forwards, who easily beat the opposing pack. The Welch had several good bouts of passing, but the backs, with the exception of Payne, the full, and Daniell in the centre, failed to go down to the rushes.

The Trinity forwards burst away from the first scrum and carried the ball up to the line, but only a touch down resulted. After a couple of passing movements had come to nothing Malan set his backs going, and, passing by Stewart, O'Donel and Cussen saw the last-named dashing over at the right, Stewart making a fine shot at goal. Continuing to attack, Malan sent out a long pass to Stewart, who cut through cleverly before passing to O'Donel, who let Cussen away to beat three opponents before crossing, and Stewart landed a goal. Payne twice cleared his line cleverly, but from a scrum near the line Van Druten picked up and worked his way over for an unconverted try. A couple of passing movements by the Welch broke down in the centre, and Trinity led at half-time by 11 points to nil.

In a general way the Welsh were pressing for most of the second half. Benyon and Daniell, intercepting three or four times, were looking dangerous, but the Trinity tackling was sound, and the only score was a grand dropped goal by Phillips from an awkward angle from the 25 flag.

Power, considering the conditions, did well at full for Trinity, and Cussen again stood out as the pick of the three-quarters, his tries being two fine efforts. Troughton was sound, but not as good as the previous Saturday, and O'Donel took his passes cleverly, and also kicked well. Malan, despite being well marked, got the ball away smartly to Stewart, who was again in good form, while the pick of the pack were Crichton, Van Druten, Rollins, and Dowse. Considering that they had to travel to Aldershot during the week to play the final of the Army Cup, and travel back, the Welch put up a splendid fight. Payne, at full, was the pick of the back division, his fielding and kicking being first-class. Benyon, in the centre, got a couple of tricky runs, but let the opposing backs through several times by going for the ball instead of the man, and Daniell, the other centre, was the pick of the line, especially in defence. Phillips played well at stand-off half, and Morgan a keen scrum worker. The best of the forwards were Jones, Dunn, Payne, and Lane. Result:—

Dublin University—1 goal 2 tries (11 points).
2nd Welch Regt.—1 dropped goal (4 points).

FINAL NEXT SATURDAY.

*Signifies old international.

A Reuter's telegram, dated Paris, March 26th, states:—Monday's match at Colombes between the French and British Rugby teams is the eleventh which has been played between the two countries. Hitherto England has won every match practically always by a wide margin, the total number of points scored being 250 for England against 53 for France. The first match was played in 1906 at the Parc des Princes, when France was beaten by 35 points to 8. France was captained by Gaston Lane, and the French team included Allan H. Muhr, an American, and the Englishman, Crichton, who played full back. It is true that at this time the rules regarding qualification were not so strict. The most even games were those played in 1910, when the French team was beaten only by 11 to 3, and last year, when England won by 8 to 3. The match on Monday will be presided over by Marshal Foch, and a number of other distinguished personages, including several Ministers, are expected to be present. The referee has been chosen by the Scottish Union from the official referees of Scotland. The English team will arrive this evening by special train.

TO-DAY'S FIXTURE.

LEINSTER SENIOR LEAGUE.

BOHEMIANS v. ST. JAMES'S GATE.

To win the Leinster Senior League Championship Bohemians had only to take the two points from St. James's Gate at Dalymount Park on Saturday, but they failed. The match ended in a draw of one goal each, and as a result they will have to play a deciding match with Shelbourne. The home club were strongly represented, and ought to have won the match comfortably, but the attack lacked balance, while the shooting was only so so. St. James's Gate scored early in the game through Shea, and it was not until the second half had been ten minutes started that Bohemians equalised through Smith, who was playing in the team for the first time. Bohemians had lots the best of the play, but poor marksmanship and a sound defence by the visitors were deciding factors in the result. Result:—

MILLS CUP.

ROYAL HIBERNIANS (3) v. MONKSTOWN (1).

The feature of the game was the splendid defence put up by the losers and a fine display of goal-keeping by Jermyn. From the outset Hibernians kept up a continuous attack, the few bursts by the Monkstown attack being very few and far between. Considering the one-sided nature of the game, it was by no means uninteresting, and up to the finish the play was of a good class nature. Hibernians attacked at the start, and after some fine saves by Jermyn from Parslow and Cork, the latter opened the scoring through Jermyn being unsighted. A misunderstanding by the Hibernians' defence let in M'Cormick to equalise in the easiest manner. Fine work by Darcus and Jermyn kept out Hibernians for a time until Cork got through after a fine individual effort to put his side ahead. Cork had several fine drives at goal stopped, and it remained for Smailes to score. Further fine work by Jermyn prevented a further score before the interval. Hibernians held the upper hand all through the second period. Parslow should have had a couple of goals at least, but skied over, whilst shots from Smailes, Wallis, Cork, and Humphreys were saved. In the closing minute Monkstown forced a couple of corners which were unproductive. Teams:—

Monkstown—W. Jermyn; W. Orr, J. Peterson; J. Armstrong, D. Rowlands, G. Darcus; J. Twamley, W. Dormer, W. Morrison, L. Morrison, E. M'Cormick.

Royal Hibernians—J. A. Smith; A. Le Grys, H. W. Long; F. Crombie, R. M'Donnell, A. Senior; R. A. Smailes, T. Wallis, T. Parslow, M. H. Cork, E. Humphreys.

Umpires—Messrs. James S. M'Mahon and G. A. Richardson.

BUCCANEERS' ENGLISH TOUR.

On Saturday the Buccaneers, an Irish combination, met and defeated Beckenham, who were not strongly represented, by 4 to 2. The London side led at half-time by 2 to 1. The Irish club played dashing hockey, a feature being the clever display of Captain M'Cormick, who has only the use of his left hand. He scored two goals, and Mahony and O'Reilly got the others. For Beckenham, Harrison and Southwell scored. To-day Buccaneers play Teddington, the Aldershot Command on to-morrow, and Wimbledon on Wednesday.

ISLAND CLUB.—April 2—Mixed foursome competition, semi-open. Post entries and arrange own opponents.

OPEN MEETING AT NORTH FORELAND.

The feature of Saturday's play in the open meeting of the North Foreland Club, for which there was an entry of 157, was the play of M. W. Seymour, who entered from North Foreland. He learned his golf, as did his half-brother, Abe Mitchell, as a member of the Cantelupe Artisan Club. Seymour went round in 76, a score which was by far the best recorded during the day, although the addition of his plus 3 prevented him from occupying the leading position on the handicap. His score equalled the record for the green. He was driving particularly well, but he topped tee shots to the fourth, sixteenth, and eighteenth holes.

GOLFERS AND LORD HAIG'S FUND.

In connection with the Kawasaki Cup tournament, held by the St. George's Hill Club, a sum of £150 was raised from entrance fees and the selling sweepstake, and will be handed over to the administration of Lord Haig's Fund. In the final of the Cup on Saturday, over 36 holes, G. G. Kirke (plus 2) beat W. L. Howard (6) by 4 and 3. The trophy was presented to the club by the Japanese golf champion.

OXFORD v. CAMBRIDGE.

Draw for Oxford and Cambridge match, Cambridge appearing first:—Foursomes—Humphries and Walker v. Wethered and Mellor; Prowse and Bott v. Malik and Pakenham-Walsh; White and Little v. Tolley and Cochran; Le Bas and Goadby v. Thomas and Aked; Douglas and Longbourne v. Vivian and Cave. Singles—Humphries v. Tolley; Walker v. Wethered; Prowse v. Malik; Bott v. Thomas; Douglas v. Mellor; White v. Pakenham-Walsh; Le Bas v. Aked; Little v. Vivian; Goadby v. Cave; Longbourne v. Cochran.

RACQUETS.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

By his victory in the final of the All-Comers' competition at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, on Saturday, the Hon. C. N. Bruce will play E. M. Baerlein, the holder, for the Singles Championship on Tuesday. R. C. O. Williams (Eton and Oxford University) had played so well in the earlier stages of the competition that he was expected to run the last year's finalist close, but Bruce proved much too strong a player for him, and won the three games with comparative ease, the scores in his favour being 15-8, 15-2, and 15-7.

IS LOCAL OPTION A KILL-JOY?

If so, then look at these

SPECIMENS OF HAPPINESS:

A DRUNKARD,
A DRUNKARD'S WIFE,
A DRUNKARD'S CHILD,
A DRUNKARD'S HOUSE.

HOBBS, the Surrey Cricketer, says:—"The greatest enemy to success upon the field is the drinking habit." Is he a Kill-joy?

Sir HARRY LAUDER says of American Prohibition:—"It is a glorious success." Is he a Kill-joy?

PUSSYFOOT JOHNSON enjoys a cigar, tells a good joke, and [illegible] he lost his eye in the best of fun. Is he a Kill-joy?

What athletic authority says liquor is necessary to sport?
What temperance authority put a ban on healthy recreation?
True sport is a counter attraction to the Public House, and all sensible temperance people support it.
The best Lacrosse is in Local Option Canada.
The best Baseball is in Prohibition America.
The best Cricket is in Local Option Australia.
Do they play less Football in Local Option Scotland?

There is one game the whiskey men play in which—THEY ARE GREAT AT GRAB. In 1918 the Tax on Liquor was raised, and THE TRADE raised the price to the consumer so as to cover not only the extra tax, but £18,000,000 of additional profit for their own pocket.

This is THEIR GAME but WHO WINS?

Last Year's Drink Bill was £469,700,000.

This is not kill-joy for the trade, but it represents a good deal of dead joy in the homes and lives of other people.

The best rowers, cricketers, tennis players, golfers, baseball batters and pitchers, lacrosse players, football men, sprinters, etc., are practically all total abstainers. Those who use liquor should join these Teetotal Cranks when in training. Every sport's coach and trainer is a prohibitionist. Liquor turns our "crocks." It makes the competitor unfit, and degrades every pastime it touches.

TEMPERANCE VOTERS, show the Whiskey men at the coming Elections that you are real sports and can play the game.

LOCAL OPTION IS THE WINNING GOAL.

ROYAL STABLES FOR AMERICAN PONIES.

The Committee of Hurlingham Club have secured a good ground at Sunbury for the purpose of enabling the American team to have practice before the international matches. The difficulty of finding stabling in the district for over fifty ponies has been surmounted, thanks to the generosity of the King, who has placed the Royal stables at Hampton Court at the disposal of the team.

BERT SPARGO KNOCKS OUT JOE SYMONDS.

A Reuter's telegram, dated Melbourne, Saturday, states:—At the opening of the Stadium to-day, Bert Spargo (Victoria) knocked out Joe Symonds (England) in the ninth round.

SEAMAN HALL DEFEATS DANNY ARTHURS.

Seaman Hall (Chatham) beat Danny Arthurs (Aberdare) at The Ring, Blackfriars, on Saturday night in the 18th round of a 20 rounds contest. The Welshman was speedy and clever, but could not keep away from Hall's left, with which he was always scoring. In the 13th round Hall had his man in trouble, only the bell saving him. Afterwards Arthurs fought back well until the 18th round, when Hall, with a series of lefts and a right to the head, had him beaten, and the referee stopped the fight in the latter's favour.

MOTOR CYCLING.

EASTER RELIABILITY TRIAL.

The Dublin and District Motor Cycling Club open their competitive season to-day, when a reliability trial, under the customary conditions, will take place. Owing to the existing restrictions with regard to the circulation of motor vehicles, the route of the trial is confined to a radius of twenty miles from Dublin. The start will take place from Terenure at 9 a.m., and the most southerly point touched with be Sally Gap. Most of the test hills to be traversed lie in the neighbourhood of the Sugar Loaf, and include Rediane, Altidore, Goat's Pass, and the Devil's Elbow. The entries received for the event are as follows:—

P. H. Hurse, 4¼ h.p. B.S.A.; E. J. Mecredy, 4½ h.p. Humber and sidecar; J. Browne, 2½ h.p. Douglas; H. McAllister, 7 h.p. A.J.S. and sidecar; G. Callaghan, 2¾ h.p. Ruby; S. Woods, 7/9 h.p. The heat between Aiken and Smith in the London Tournament ended at Burroughes' Hall on Saturday in a win for Smith by 4,680 points, after having conceded the Scottish champion a start of 1,500.

ATHLETICS AND CYCLING.

INTERNATIONAL RACES AT HERNE HILL.

The English Southern Counties Cycling Union had a big meeting at the Herne Hill track on Saturday, when, with ideal weather, there was a record crowd. Chief interest centred in the two international matches, M. P. Peters (Holland), the world's amateur and Olympic champion, and W. A. Ormston, regarded as England's best amateur, figuring in one, and Marcel Dupuy, the professional champion of Europe, and W. W. Bailey (England) appearing in the other. In both races it was a matter of tactics, and crawling most of the distance. Peters won the first race by a length and a half, and the second by three-quarters of a length, after splendid finishing bursts. In the professional event Bailey won the first by three lengths, but lost the second by a wheel. He, however, won the third race by a similar distance.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD CLAIMED.

A Berkeley (California) telegram, dated Saturday, says:—Competing for his University at the Southern California athletic meeting to-day, Mr. Chas. Paddock covered 220 yards in 20 4-5 secs. This is claimed as a new world's record.

OLYMPIAN GAMES FOR LADIES.

A Monte Carlo telegram, dated Friday, states:—The Olympic Games for Ladies opened here to-day. The first three places in the semi-finals of the 60 metres race went to Miss Lines, Miss Wright, and Miss Hatt. In the High Jump Misses Birchenough, Hatt, and Lines cleared 1.20 metres. They failed at 1.30 metres. In the basket ball eliminating heats England beat the Academie de Paris by 8 points to 2.

A Reuter's telegram, dated Monte Carlo, Saturday, states:—The Olympic Games for ladies were continued to-day. For the final of the running long jump, six French ladies, with Miss Lines and Miss Hatt, Great Britain, have qualified. Miss Lines jumped 4.70 metres. No English competitor has got into the final for javelin throwing. The final of the 60 metres race was won by Miss Lines in 8 1-5 secs. In the final for the high jump, both Mdlle. Kuzel and Miss Hatt cleared the tape at 1.40 metres.

The Inter-Club Relay Race of 300 metres, in four relays of 75 metres each, was run. The first heat was won by the British Team A in 49 secs.; the second by the French team, Femina Sport, in 50 secs.; and the third by the British Team B in 52 secs. The first heat of the semi-final of the hurdle race was won by Mdlle. Delapierre (France), and the second heat by Miss Lines (Great Britain).

DUBLIN CINEMAS.

A largely attended meeting of the Theatre and Cinema Association was held at the offices of Messrs. Kennedy, Crowley and Co., 37 Westmoreland street, Dublin, on Saturday, Mr. David Frame presiding. It was decided that the cinemas of Dublin and district would remain open for the present.

EASTER ENTERTAINMENTS AT MONKSTOWN.

Easter week-end holiday-makers, who selected the Salthill Hotel, Monkstown, were fortunate, not only in the enjoyment of extended "Curfew" time, but also in the provision of a four days' programme of entertainments given at the hotel. There was a capital concert on Good Friday, a dance on Saturday night, and there will be another dance to-night, at which Saturday's success bids fair to be repeated. On yesterday afternoon an excellent musical entertainment was given, and the concert room was crowded. The location of the hotel and the views of land and sea obtained from it are in themselves attractions, with the result that a large non-residential attendance augmented the full guest list. The artistes were such a combination of well-known performers as would be assured success anywhere, and the items of the programme, vocal and instrumental, won generous approval. Miss Reade's orchestra gave an interesting opening to the entertainment, and the other artistes were—Miss Gertrude Coulahan (piano), Mr. Arthur Davies, Miss Florence Howley, Miss Jeanne Goldfoot (violin), the inimitable humorist, Mr. Wilson-Kelly; Mr. Irvine Lynch, Mr. T. V. Shellard, and Mr. J. V. Morgan. The accompaniments were in the capable hands of Mrs. Wilson-Kelly.

THE LAIRD LINE SAILINGS.

Owing to the "Curfew" regulations, the sailings by the Laird Line between Dublin and Heysham will be at 6.30 p.m., instead of 7.30 p.m., as formerly. This applies to the sailings of the company from to-morrow (Tuesday) to Friday next, both days inclusive.

DUBLIN AND GLASGOW STEAMER SERVICE.

The Burns Steamship Company, Ltd., announce in our advertising columns that there will be no service by their steamers from Dublin to Glasgow to-morrow.

IRISH REGISTRAR-GENERAL'S WEEKLY RETURN.

The Irish Registrar-General's return for the week ending 19th March, 1921, states:—In the Dublin Registration Area the births registered during the week amounted to 175—79 boys and 96 girls—and the deaths to 159—85 males and 74 females. The deaths registered, omitting the deaths (numbering 19) of persons admitted into public institutions from localities outside the area, represent an annual rate of mortality of 17.3 per 1,000 of the population. Included in the 140 deaths appertaining to the area are one from diphtheria, two from diarrhœa and enteritis of children under two years, and two from influenza. There were eight deaths from pneumonia, comprising three from broncho-pneumonia and five from pneumonia (type not distinguished). Tuberculous disease caused 30 deaths. Seven deaths were caused by cancer, 14 by organic diseases of the heart, and 18 by bronchitis. Among deaths of infants under one year old, two were due to disseminated tuberculosis, two to convulsions, two to bronchitis, one to broncho-pneumonia, two to diarrhœa and enteritis, three to congenital malformations, five to premature birth, and two to congenital debility. Twenty-eight of the deaths registered during the week appertaining to the area were those of children under five years of age, twenty being infants under one year, of whom eight were under one month old, and 33 deaths were those of persons aged 65 and upwards, of whom 23 were 70 years of age or over.

NEWMARKET TRIAL.

The following trial took place at Newmarket on Saturday:—Sadler (junior's) Criseyde, 1; Sadler (senior's) Joskin, 2; Sadler (junior's) Calaynos, 3; Sadler (senior's) Incandescent, 4; Ali Baba, 5. Five furlongs. Won by two lengths; three lengths between second and third.

LAWN TENNIS.

AUSTRALASIA AND THE DAVIS CUP.

A Reuter's telegram, dated Sydney, Sunday, says:—The Secretary of the Australasian Tennis Association states that Norman Brookes has been requested, as sole selector, to nominate the team to represent Australasia in the next contests for the Davis Cup.

TENNIS.

TENNIS IN PARIS.

At Paris on Saturday, states a Reuter's telegram a tennis match between A. H. Gobert (France) and Tegner (Denmark) resulted in a victory for the Frenchman by 8-6, 4-6, 6-2.

PHŒNIX PARK MEETING—SATURDAY.

BIG FIELDS.

INTERESTING SPORT.

A splendid afternoon's sport rewarded the big company that assembled at the inaugural meeting of the season at Phœnix Park, and pity it was that the weather should have turned out so disagreeable. Several heavy showers fell, and the second event was run in a blinding rainstorm, but the excellent quality of the racing helped to atone for any discomfort caused by the wet, and backers, on the whole, would have little cause for complaint, even though a couple of outsiders did upset calculations in the last two races on the card.

It was a good augury for the season, which may be said to be now fairly launched, to find runners forthcoming in such force, the total on Saturday reaching ninety-one, which yields a fine average. Despite the inimical conditions, things went with a swing throughout, and a brisk beginning was made with the Finglas Plate, for which Crock Hill, who stood at the bottom of the handicap, and Lord Northsea, left off at the head of the wagering. It was good picking, the pair finishing first and second in the order their names are written, and their nearest attendant passing the judge's box was Kanowna. Though now in his fourth year, the winner had not previously earned a bracket, and was only acquired a few months ago by Captain Collins, whose colours he carried. En Tout Cas, who was backed down to 2 to 1 in a field of sixteen for the Weight-for-Age Plate, ran well, and accounted for everything except Royal Edgar, who only beat him on the post by a short head, the diminutive Rossmore Lodge apprentice, James Doyle, who had steered Crock Hill earlier on, riding another fine race on Mr. Cullinan's horse. Teltown flattered for a long way, and a furlong out looked very like winning, but failed to sustain the effort, and was relegated into third place.

The First Class Two-Year-Old Plate fell an easy prey to the neatly moulded filly by Irish Marine out of Christina, named Irish Renee, who scored in the style of a smart youngster, and she is another feather in the cap of Mr. W. Rankin, the Ruan Beg trainer, who won both the juvenile races at the recent Baldoyle meeting. Acquilegia, who commanded most support in the betting, did not strike off as quickly as some of the others, and though subsequently making up leeway, she never looked like catching Irish Renee or Hector's Pride. Nor did Be Serious, who had performed so well at the Metropolitan meeting, run up to expectations, and after showing speed in the earlier stages, dropped out of the fighting line. On the strength of his easy win at Baldoyle, Irish Renee's stable companion, Ben View, was served up favourite for the Second Class Two-Year-Old Plate, which, though it attracted eighteen youngsters to the post, seemed to be regarded in the light of a match between that colt and the Conyngham Lodge representative, True Friend, who was befriended at 2 to 1, whilst 100 to 8 could be had about any of the remaining sixteen. Of the pair who dominated the market Ben View did best, but in a fine set-to he could get no nearer than third to the little-fancied Tilstock and Brave Lass, both of which are trained by D. McKenna at Curragh View. Tilstock now decisively turned the tables on Mr. Barnett's colt, who at Baldoyle finished three lengths in front of him, on which form there was little encouragement to back Saturday's winner, and hence his starting without a quotation.

Though the class in the Selling Plate was moderate, that race provided one of the best finishes of the day, and it was only in the last few strides that the favourite, Moorish Maid, caught and beat Battina, who had headed her out at the half-distance. E. M. Quirke, on the winner, and Joseph Harty on the second, were seen to advantage in the saddle, both riding with fine judgment and resolution. Another big fleet of runners turned out for the Open Five Furlong Handicap, in which Irish Sailor was made the medium of a plunge, but he succumbed to Symmetrian, who came with a wet sail in the last furlong, and landed a 10 to 1 chance, and incidentally lost her maiden certificate.

Mr. J. M'Carthy's Ulster Lady, 6, 7-7 (car. 7-9) J. H. Harty 0
(Winner trained by Mr. R. Walker.)

Betting—4 to 1 each agst. CROCK HILL and Lord Northsea, 5 to 1 Huonora, 6 to 1 Ashvale, 10 to 1 Kanowna or any other.

Symons set the pace to Huonora, Vagabond, Fair Oaks, Kanowna, and Riverside Fairy, with Crock Hill and Lord Northsea next. After going three furlongs Symons lost his place, and Crock Hill, drawing into the lead, followed by Kanowna, Lord Northsea, and Ashvale, made the remainder of the running, and won easily by three lengths; a length divided second and third. Riverside Fairy was fourth, Le Roue fifth, Vagabond sixth, Symons seventh, Huonora eighth, Ashvale ninth, and Prudent Girl next.

Mr. W. H. Stops's Expression, 3, 7-7 Dines 0
(Winner trained by J. Doyle.)

Betting—2 to 1 agst. En Tout Cas, 3 to 1 ROYAL EDGAR, 4 to 1 Teltown, 8 to 1 each Alaska and Precious Stone, 10 to 1 each Pirnwinder and Boomerang, 20 to 1 any other.

Kissing Time bolted on the way to the post, and, losing her rider, galloped round the course, but was caught and remounted. She dwelt, however, when the barrier was raised, losing considerable ground. En Tout Cas made the running from Alaska, Royal Edgar, Teltown, Precious Stone, and Expression, with Lofty next, and so they ran until a quarter of a mile from home, when Teltown and Royal Edgar closed with En Tout Cas, and a fine race resulted in favour of Royal Edgar by a short head; a length and a half divided second and third. Precious Stone was fourth, Alaska fifth, Lofty sixth, Expression seventh, Boomerang eighth, Red Planet ninth, and Keredern next.

Mr. Lindsay Fitzpatrick declared to win with En Tout Cas.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Ninety-one horses ran at the Phœnix Park Meeting on Saturday

J. Reiff, the American jockey, is returning to France, where he expects to ride for one of the big stables.

James Doyle, who is apprenticed to his father, John Doyle, the once crack flat race jockey, rode the first two winners at Phœnix Park on Saturday.

At a meeting of the Conyngham Club Committee held on Saturday, the following resolution was passed in silence:—"That the Committee take this opportunity of placing on record their sense of the great loss sustained through the sad death of Mr. Percy La Touche, D.L."

In connection with the Maze meeting on Friday and Saturday next, an auxiliary train will run from Dublin to Belfast at 9.45 a.m., calling at Drogheda, Dundalk, Portadown, and the Maze. This train will return each evening from the Maze Station at 4.20, calling at Portadown and Dundalk only.

The Hastings Steeplechase, decided at Plumpton on Saturday, provided quite a chapter of accidents and a disaster to backers. Phœnicura fell, after racing about half a mile. At the same point, Sedge Warbler broke down. Mozzel fell lame shortly afterwards, and the race was easily won by an outsider in Rillet from Wiseton II., who also broke down, and had to be destroyed. Bed Level, the favourite, failed to obtain a place.

WARD HUNT (FAIRYHOUSE) MEETING—THIS DAY.

It is to be hoped that the weather to-day will show an improvement on that of Saturday, so that the enjoyment of the big holiday crowd which is certain to foregather at ever popular Fairyhouse may not be marred. A most attractive programme has, as usual, been arranged by the Ward Union Hunt executive, and we are promised sport of a very interesting character, the outstanding item being, of course, the Irish Grand National. For this important race a good field will try conclusions, and there is material for a capital contest, which may be won by

ALL SORTS or ISCHEVAHA.

Other selections are as follow:—
Percy Maynard Cup—Ballinacrad.
Ward Union Hunt Cup—Cherry Branch.
Military Plate—Conny; if absent, Killenaule.
Maiden Plate—Princethorpe or Uproar.
King's Cup—Speculation or The Coiner.
Fairyhouse Plate—Maelstrom.

"THE RACEHORSE" concluded the Lincolnshire Handicap and Grand National remarks in last Tuesday's RACEHORSE in the following terms:—"LINCOLNSHIRE HANDICAP. I know sufficient about the situation to strongly advise my readers to support SENHORA to win a good stake, and save the money on her for a place, or back her each way for equal amounts if they like. This is the best advice I can give. GRAND NATIONAL. Going on what I know I recommend readers to back SHAUN SPADAH to win, and to save the stake for a place. He is a stayer of the first water, was never in better form in his life, and has two great advantages: he is a horse who has successfully negotiated this trying course before, and he will have the crack steeplechase jockey (F. B. Rees) in the saddle. It is for these reasons that he receives my vote." RACEHORSE, 2d. Every Tuesday and Saturday. —(Advt.)

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, SUNDAY NIGHT.

At Kempton Park to-morrow a representative field will face the starter for the Queen's Prize, and Trespasser, Hunt Law, and Dutchman comprise a well-fancied trio. Donoghue rides the first-named, and I give the preference, as the course and distance will suit him to a nicety. Hunt Law has given every satisfaction on the training ground of late, and should run prominently. My other selections are:—

TRESPASSER

Rothschild Handicap—White Fang.
Ashford Plate—Ramboda.
South-Western Plate—Bidesia.
Easter Plate—The Winter King.
Rendlesham Stakes—Mullein.
Richmond Stakes—The Shark.

A fall of rain in Manchester has not so far affected the going, which promises to be all right for the fixture which commences to-morrow. For the opening day my full selections are:—
Pendleton Hurdle—Milton.
Spring Handicap Hurdle—Swinerton.
Lancashire Steeplechase—Eamon Beag.
Kersal Hurdle—Fragola.
Cheetham Hurdle—Ballyhandy.
Agecroft Steeplechase—Chin Chin.

The executive of the Birmingham Meeting have secured quite a good share of support from owners for their holiday fixture, and my selections are:—
Bromsgrove Plate—Recruiter.
Doddington Plate—Sky High.
Coventry Plate—Tulip.
Spring Handicap—Perion.
Water Orton Plate—Little Doon.
Decker Hill Plate—Regent's Park.

At Newcastle-on-Tyne the course at Gosforth Park will be found in much better trim than is usually the case at the Easter Meeting. There should be fair fields and interesting sport. My selections are:—
Bentinck Stakes—Adela.
T.Y.O. Selling Plate—Roscobie gelding.
Gosforth Juvenile Stakes—J. Renwick's selected.
Spring Handicap—Sunstroke.
Elswick Handicap—Treasure Note.
Tyne Handicap—Jessie Agnes.

NEWCASTLE MEETING—THIS DAY.

NEPTUNE HOTEL, BETTYSTOWN.

ATTRACTIVE AND IMPORTANT SALE OF FIRST-CLASS SEASIDE HOTEL,

KNOWN AS THE NEPTUNE HOTEL, BETTYSTOWN, NEAR DROGHEDA.

I HAVE BEEN FAVOURED WITH INSTRUCTIONS, from the Owner, TO SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION on FRIDAY, 15th APRIL, 1921, at One o'clock (if not previously disposed of by Private Treaty), AT THE MART, LAURENCE STREET, DROGHEDA, the OLD-ESTABLISHED AND WELL KNOWN CHARMING SEASIDE HOTEL, SITUATE AT BETTYSTOWN, NEAR DROGHEDA, held by lease for a period of 50 years, at the nominal rent of £32 10s. 0d. per year. Poor Law valuation £30 0s. 0d. Licence duty £5 0s. 0d. The Hotel stands on a lovely paddock, commanding a magnificent view of the whole sea coast from Howth Head to the Mourne Mountains, and the beautiful velvet strand from Bettystown to Laytown, on which the popular Laytown Races are held. It contains 25-30 bedrooms, drawing-room, parlour, coffee room, bar, billiard room, dining room (to accommodate 80 people), lounge, servants' rooms, w.c.'s, bath, kitchen, store room, coal house, bottling stores, pump house (fresh and sea water), stabling and garage, &c., all in first-class order and repair. There is a seven-days licence attached. Bettystown is one of the favourite and rising seaside resorts on the East Coast, and is patronised by a very large number of the people from Dublin and all the surrounding districts of the Counties Meath and Louth. The Hotel is beautifully situated and equipped, and convenient to the G. N. Railway Station, and is only a few hundred yards from the popular Golf Links, and it is capable of being still vastly developed as a seaside resort for health and week-end enjoyment.

The purchaser can have immediate possession on completion of purchase, and will be given the opportunity of taking over the furniture and appointments, &c., at a valuation. The Premises can be inspected any day up to the day of Sale. For further particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to

LUKE J. ELCOCK,
AUCTIONEER AND BOROUGH APPRAISER, DROGHEDA.

DUBLIN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION.

THE PROMOTION OF FOREIGN TRADE.

A largely attended meeting of the Council of the Dublin Industrial Development Association was held at the offices, 12 Molesworth street, Dublin, Mr. J. P. O'Shea, President, in the chair.

The Secretary reported that the leaflets and show cards in connection with the Irish week had been sent out in quantities to two hundred applicants in various parts of the country. Distributing on a large scale was reported. A display of Irish-made goods in the shops throughout the country, was stated to have been more widespread than ever, and much more interest than usual was evinced. The Council noted the report with satisfaction.

A letter was read from the Ministry of Transport regarding a complaint made to Council as to exorbitant rates on Irish coal from Arigna, stating that the matter has been engaging the attention of the Ministry for some time past. The Council felt, in view of the increased demand for Irish coal, that the matter should have immediate attention.

The Committee of business men appointed subsequent to the recent Rotary Club luncheon, addressed by the Earl of Midleton, to discuss the basis of a political settlement, wrote informing the President of the Association that he had been elected to the Committee. The Council, however, decided that, as the Association was purely an industrial body, he could not take part in the proceedings of a Committee whose aims are political.

A sample of "Donegal" tweed made in Yorkshire was submitted by a member of the Association, and the Council decided on taking action towards having spurious tweed withdrawn.

The Irish Engineering Union wrote stating that of an order recently placed with a city firm for fifty-six brass cocks, fifty had been imported from England. Pending inquiries, action was deferred.

CANADIAN TRADE.

A correspondent in Montreal wrote again emphasising the importance of being made aware of the names and addresses of Canadian agents for Irish manufacturers. He pointed out that a very large demand exists in Canada for Irish goods, and that "drives" in support of such goods would be organised by the large Irish population, if they were made aware of what precise articles of Irish manufacture were already on the Canadian markets, and from whom such goods could be obtained by retailers. He felt that the organisation was not yet sufficiently strong to find markets for new goods. The use of articles already on the Canadian market, however, could be very largely extended. Manufacturers having agents in Canada are requested to communicate with the Secretary, Dublin I.D.A., 12 Molesworth street, on the point.

A County Monaghan clergyman applied for information as to Irish building materials for a large contract, which he is having carried out in a church, school, and parochial house.

The French Consul wrote regarding a market in Morocco for various Irish goods—candles, linen, cotton, woollen, and all sorts of manufactured goods—while, on the other hand, wool, Algerian fibre, alfas hides, Fuller's earth, and dates, hand-made Moroccan articles were offered for sale in Ireland. The name and address of the firm will be supplied on application.

From New York inquiries for dry cattle bones and hide fleshings (tannery glue stock) were received. Exporters will be supplied with the name and address.

MEETING OF TOWN TENANTS' LEAGUE.

Mr. Robert Anderson presided at the weekly meeting of the Central Branch of the All Ireland Town Tenants' League held at the offices, 43 Rutland square, Dublin. There was a large attendance, which included tenants from Dublin City and County in reference to cases pending.

Mr. Michael Coen, of the Athlone Branch, attended in reference to cases to be heard at the coming Sessions at Moate, and also regarding cases at Athlone. He congratulated the Executive on the valuable work which they had accomplished. At Athlone their branch had now grown to considerable strength, and he could assure Mr. Coghlan Briscoe and the other members of the Executive that they had behind them the solid support of the town tenants at Athlone.

The meeting was engaged for a considerable time dealing with cases of disputes between landlords and tenants. The owners attended in several cases, and amicable settlements were arranged.

BRAY TENANTS SUMMONED.

A number of tenants of houses in Dock terrace, Bray, were summoned to the Bray Petty Sessions Court on Saturday by the collectors for the local Urban Council, to show cause why they had not paid the rates assessed on the premises they occupied.

Mr. J. M. Magee, solicitor, who appeared for the tenants, applied for an adjournment, as he said, efforts were being made to arrive at a settlement with the landlord under the Increase of Rents Act. The application was granted, and the cases were adjourned for a fortnight.

STORE CATTLE SALE.

R. and J. WILKINSON.—With only a moderate attendance of buyers, the store cattle trade last week was again very slow, nicely bred cattle maintaining good competition. Some good heifers realised £42, £39 10/-, £39, etc., being about 90/- per cwt., whilst the better classes of horned bullocks made as follow:—£44 5/-, £43 5/-, £42, £39 5/-, £39, £37 10/-, £37 5/-, £36 10/-, £33, £32, etc., being about 89/- to 92/-, and in a few cases 93/- and 94/- per cwt. The top price at the sale was £48 for a pen of A.A. cross bullocks from Co. Mayo. Ordinary cattle made a rather indifferent trade, and many lots could not be disposed of.

A Delhi telegram, dated Thursday, states:—The Council of State to-day passed, with slight modifications, the Finance Bill which was passed by the Legislative Assembly on March 19.

Our portrait is of Mr. Walter E. White, 41 Bollo-lane, Chiswick, London, who writes:—

"Some three years ago I had a swelling in the knee cap, and one night I knocked my knee, which caused a little ulcer, which, in time, no matter what I did, developed across the whole knee. I had one large gaping wound, and with all the care and attention that wound was open for over 15 months. I was turned down from the Army, and placed at the Royal Army Clothing Department, and one day one of my fellow-workmen enquired how my leg was, and told me it was 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' I wanted. That day I took his word and bought a bottle, and when I had finished it I was not only surprised myself, but all my workmates could see improvement. I could bend my knee a little, and that gave me encouragement, so I persevered with it, and am glad to say seven bottles completely cured me."

ST. BARNABAS' PUBLIC UTILITY SOCIETY.—The first general meeting of the St. Barnabas' Public Utility Society, Ltd., will be held in St. Barnabas' Vestry, Dublin, to-morrow at 6.30 p.m. sharp.

"CURFEW" ARRESTS.—At the Southern Police Court on Saturday a number of persons arrested in Dublin during the "Curfew" hours the previous night were charged before Mr. Cooper, K.C. Most of the prisoners were discharged—some with a caution, and others with a small fine.

HOLLAND AND IRELAND SERVICE OF STEAMERS.—The new service of steamers between Holland and Ireland continues to bring inward goods to Dublin. Very little, however, appears to be offered in return at the Liffey. The ss. Spaarestroom paid a visit to the Liffey during the week-end, and having discharged her inward freight received no outward Dublin consignments, and took her departure again at 2.30 p.m.

ACCIDENT AT PALMERSTON.—Damages to the amount of £25 with costs were assessed at a Sheriff's inquiry, held on Saturday, before Dr. Sherlock and a jury, at the Courthouse, Green street, Dublin, in a case in which Patrick Molony, Cassidy's place, James's street, sued Edward Manning, Red Cow lane, for compensation, for injuries received owing to the negligence of the defendant in the management of a horse and car at Palmerston, between Dublin and Lucan. Plaintiff was driving with some friends, and their car was overturned as the result of a collision with the defendant's car, the horse attached to which had run away. Mr. Costello (instructed by Mr. J. McDowell) appeared for the plaintiff.

After attacking a local fish hawker with a razor, a Faversham dealer ran away, and his body was afterwards found on the railway. The man attacked is progressing favourably.
